"THE SPIRIT OF THE STUDENT BODY HEATED UP DURING SCHOOL ACTIVITIES MORE THAN EVER BEFORE."

Leslie Peterson

Spirit generated excitement that could be felt all year long throughout the entire SHS student body. Some of the most spirited times were

"When we won our Homecoming Game," stated sophomore Ron Stark

"The Graduation Party," exclaimed senior Mia Nollette

"Spirit Week," said juniors Teresa Olsen and Wayne Gralian

Varsity football cheerleader Ann Turnland remarked, "Homecoming Week because we had a lot of activities going on and everyone wanted to be involved."

It seemed to be the general consensus among the students at SHS that this was a year of growing spirit and excitement and definitely a year to remember.

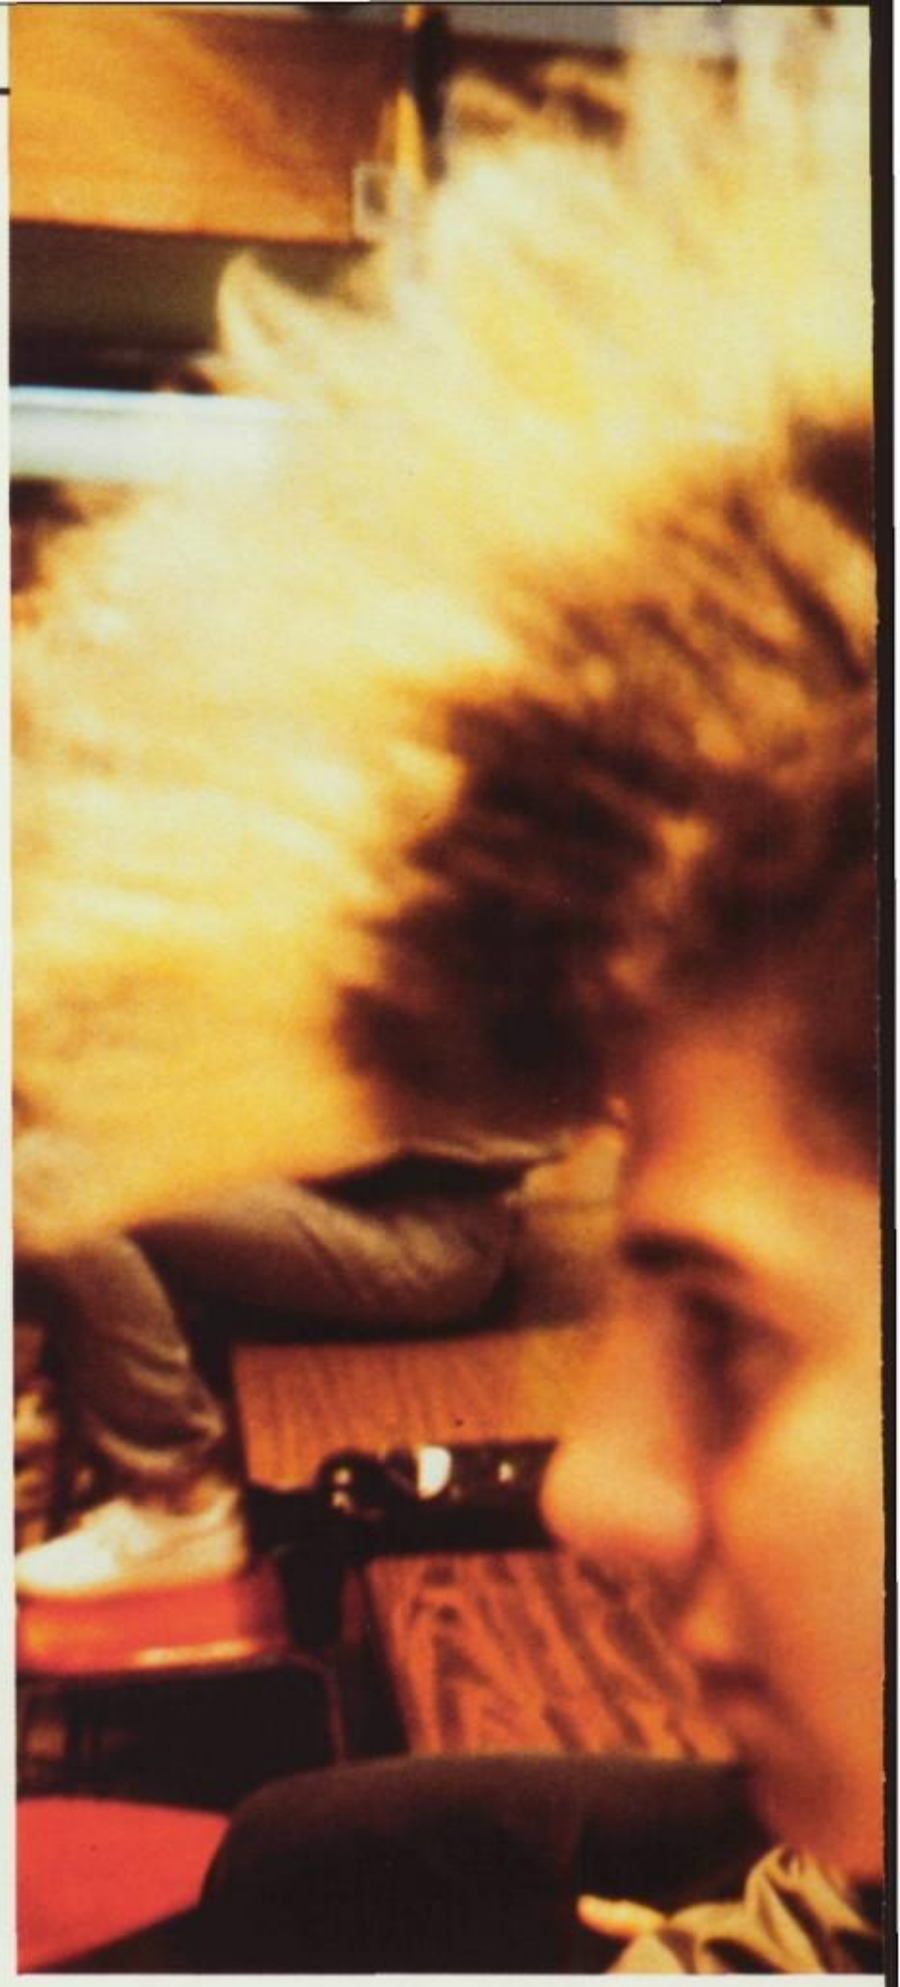
Fashion at SHS

Fashion trends at Sherwood have changed quite a bit in the past year or two. According to junior Christi Krone, "People at Sherwood are caring more about the way they look and dress."

Most people judge the clothes they buy on how they appear on the racks and on others. Freshman Nick Keeler stated, "Clothes that have a modern look and are bright and colorful usually are the ones which attract my eye."

Some popular styles among girls this year were buttoned up shirts with broaches at the neck and baggy sweaters. Among the guys, Levis were still a big hit. Some liked the assorted colors but blue jeans were still the most popular. Most guys topped their jeans off with sweaters or sweatshirts. The stores that were the most popular were The Limited, Nordstroms and Jay Jacobs. The average price range spent on one item ranges anywhere from $25.00 to $85.00.



SOPHOMORE MATT SOLMONSON shows the latest style in blue jeans and sweaters. Levi's were the most popular among guys.

Moonlighting

Friday and Saturday nights are a time to let go of school pressures and to think of relaxation. Some students chose to sit home and watch MTV, while others chose to spend their evenings at Guido's or Shari's.

Senior Amy Henifin chose Pioneer Square for a stroll in Portland and an occasional walk on the Water front; whereas, sophomore Merideth Roybal said a relaxed conversation area at Shari's was a good place to be for a great atmosphere.

After a game or dance, students went to Taco Time or to Guido's to enjoy a relaxing meal and to socialize about the upcoming events at Sherwood.

Amy Henifin also stated, "Spending time with friends is the most important and valuable part of your high school career, especially your senior year."

ENJOYING THEIR FREEDOM at Guido's are seniors Amy Henifin, Ron Tobias, John Hein and junior Tony Ortiz and sophomore Bryan Henifin.

HARD AT WORK at Sherwood Taco Time and having fun are seniors Tonya Barton, Eric Johnson, Raena Dickey and Amy Henifin.

Bowmen are hot during Homecoming

The Sherwood girls kicked off Homecoming week Monday, October 6 with the annual Powder Puff football game. The Junior-Sophomore team won the game with an 18-6 victory over the Freshmen and Seniors. From there the Bowmen changed the pace by holding Sherwood High School's first ever Formal Dinner at McDonalds. Students and faculty alike began arriving at the Tualatin McDonalds at about 7:00 Wednesday evening to enjoy a fine dinner by candlelight.

On Thursday the Bowmen began gearing up for Friday's game during the Homecoming parade. Committees began construction of the floats early in the week trying to stay with this year's theme: "Bowmen, Red, White, and You." The Thespians won the float competition. The Sophomores won the over-all competition which consisted of lunch-time activities, a class yell, and dress up days including Toga day, Hawaiian and Nerd day, Pajama and Formal day, and Red and White day. "The kids did a really good job,'' commented activities director, Kenni Spencer, ''there was a lot of particpation.''

Leading into Friday night's game, carloads of rowdy students wound their way through downtown Sherwood during the traditionally held Serpentine. Shortly afterwards, the FFA lit the torch of enthusiasm with the bonfire. When it was finally time for the game to start, the Bowmen were ecstatic, and rightly so. Sherwood's varsity football team was to face the Scappoose Indians which were previously undefeated in six games. Nonetheless, the Bowmen sizzled Scappoose with a 20-15 victory.

During the half-time celebration last year's queen, Jodi McFall, crowned the new queen, Michelle Dickover. Mrs. Spencer later stated, ''Half-time went beautifully. Robbie Van Winkle did an excellent job!'' referring to her organization of the 1956 classic T-Birds used during the celebration. This year the court was previously introduced during a special school assembly. Senior queen, Michelle Dickover described her reaction by stating, ''I was really surprised.'' The 1986 Homecoming court consisted of senior princess, Denice Weigel, junior princess, Elise Stevens, sophomore princess, Hannah Rodman, and freshman princess, Barbara Little.

The week's activities ended with the dance Saturday night. Many students thought the dance was the best in a long time. It featured a slide show put to music by seniors Todd Barton and Scott Brown.

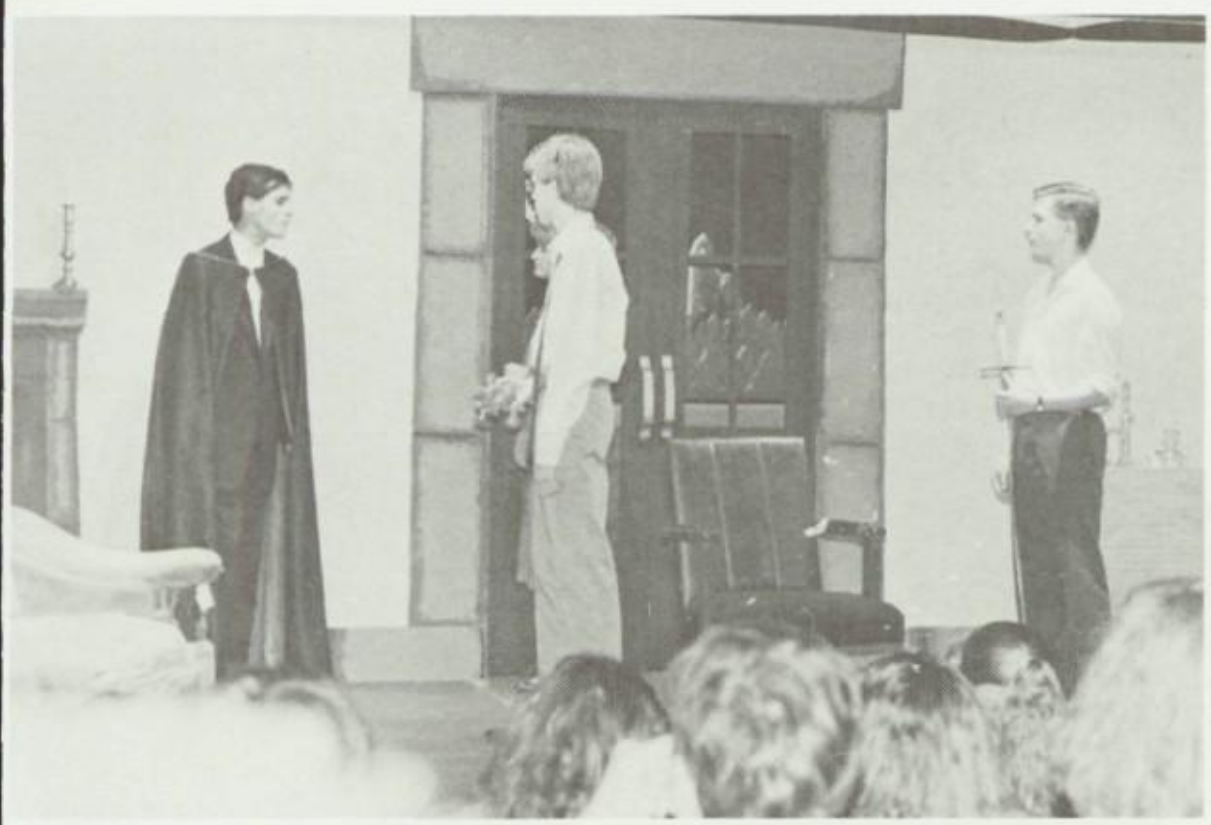
'Dracula' chosen as spring production

Drama was offered as an English credit class at SHS again in the 86-87 school year. It was a semester course teaching the basics of how to handle yourself on stage. It included walking, moving and the proper use of your voice. The class learned several skits and monologues and their final exam was an on stage performance to an audience of other students.

Aside from the Drama class, the Drama department chose "Dracula" for its annual springtime production. The cast practiced for 10 weeks in preparation for the performance. "The play was a big commitment," said sophomore Mike Sizemore, "It took up most of our time and a lot of effort but in the long run it was really worth it." Directing for her first year was Mrs. Jennifer Atwood. "She did an excellent job!" said freshman Mike Willis.



ENJOYING SOME TIME ALONE is Jonathon and Mina played by Jennifer Brown. Mr. Bob Douglas assisted and Mrs. Atwood said, "Saying he was a big help is an understatement."

HOLDING A CONVERSATION before dinner are Dr. Seward, Count Dracula, Jonathon, Sybil and Professor Van Helsing.

COUNT DRACULA, played by Mike Sizemore, chats with Dr. Seward and Van Helsing while Jonathon stands back curiously watching them.

COMFORTING A WORRIED JONATHON is Van Helsing played by senior Amy Fox. Freshman Mike Willis plays Jonathon in the production.

THROWING ANOTHER TEMPER TANTRUM is Renfield played by junior Jennifer Burns while Wesley and Hennessey drag her back to her quarters.

"MY FAVORITE PART OF THE ASSEMBLIES WAS WHEN DEAN RICHARDSON MADE A FOOL OF HIMSELF IN HIS SPEECH RUNNING FOR ASB OFFICE!"
-James Burke

Assemblies lack enthusiasm

Out of all the assemblies the SHS student body put on, most of the students agreed that the Paradise assembly was the best. Junior Tony Ortiz said that it was the most enjoyable. He stated that, "it showed a lot of things that all of us could relate to."

Student participation and enthusiasm was lacking in SHS this year. "During pep assemblies everyone just sat there and waited for someone else to do everything. No one wanted to participate," commented junior Jim Jessie.

Out of all the students in the student body, only a small select group actually enjoyed the assemblies. "Most of us would have rather gone home early!" remarked junior Brannigan Heenan.

Vice principal John Kelly felt that student behavior was good. "We should have more," he replied.

Pulsing beat

Changes occurred in people's attitude towards school, at least for a few hours on certain nights, as they walked into the commons to dance. It was much different than a normal stroll through the commons during school. First there was a great pulsing beat which seemed to con one out on the dance floor. The next thing you know your friends are out there and you don't ever want to stop dancing.

"Dancing is great because you feel like your away from everything that bothers you!" commented freshman Sean Malloy.

Overall, the St. Patrick's Dance showed the best enthusiasm. "The music wasn't old and you could dance to it and that's why more people got involved," said senior Todd Wiedemann.

The dances this year included Homecoming, Sadie Hawkins, Christmas, an after game Valentine's, St. Patrick's, and a few other after game dances.

One suggestion made by sophomore Mike Sizemore for future dances is to "lower prices to $1.00 to get in."

DEMONSTRATING THE DIFFERENT styles worn to dances are junior Shawn Wright and seniors Jeff Ferry, John Hein, and David Bosquet.

TRYING, IN SOME WAY, to calm down sophomore Jeff Klienstuber is junior Eddie Contreras at the St. Patrick's Dance.

RELIVING CHILDHOOD MEMORIES of sitting on Santa's lap are freshmen Sheila Fessler and BJ Little at the Christmas Dance.

Never say Goodbye

"MY SENIOR PROM - AN ELEGANT EVENING; SOMETHING I'LL NEVER FORGET." -Marilee Slaybaugh

Dimmed lights and charming smiles filled the room in Rene's at the First Interstate Bank Tower in Portland on April 25, as Sherwood High School held it's junior-senior prom.

With a moment of feeling fancy and free the king and queen, newlyweds Perry and Lara Palo were crowned. This years prom also included a court; Jared Winkler and Denise Weigel, and Brett Hayes and Michelle Dickover. The king and queen were awarded a dozen red roses and a free portrait taken by Mark Comella.

A local band, "The Click" played top 40 music and various selections of their own. The song and theme of the 1987 prom, "Never Say Goodbye" played during the honorary court dance.

The colors of the prom were peach and gold, with balloons hanging from booth to booth, and a view of Portland that brought out the sparkle in everyones eyes. While some students commented on the delicious hors d'oeuvres, others commented on the romantic atmosphere, such as senior Kari Olson, she stated, "It was definitely one of the best nights of my life, I know I'll never forget it."

"Overall the prom was a success!" exclaimed Activities Manager, junior Elise Stevens.

93 march across the stage

On Thursday May 28th at 8:00 pm, one by one the 93 graduating seniors entered the gym for the last time together. "The gym is always crowded for graduation," said Mr. Kelly, "It was standing room only."

Serving as Valedictorian was Lara White with Amy Fox filling the position of Salutatorian. The senior class gift presented by class President Bob Horne was picnic benches and tables for the front of the school.

The senior choir sang "Don't Say Goodbye" directed by Mr. Blau and Amy Henifin sang "Send In The Clowns" as solo. Without much further ado, the seniors received their diplomas and went into the commons where the teary-eyed graduates were congratulated by their friends and family for their accomplishment.

At 10:30 they boarded a double-decker bus to Portland where they rode Max to Gresham and went on to the Milwaukie Elks Lodge for their all-night senior party.

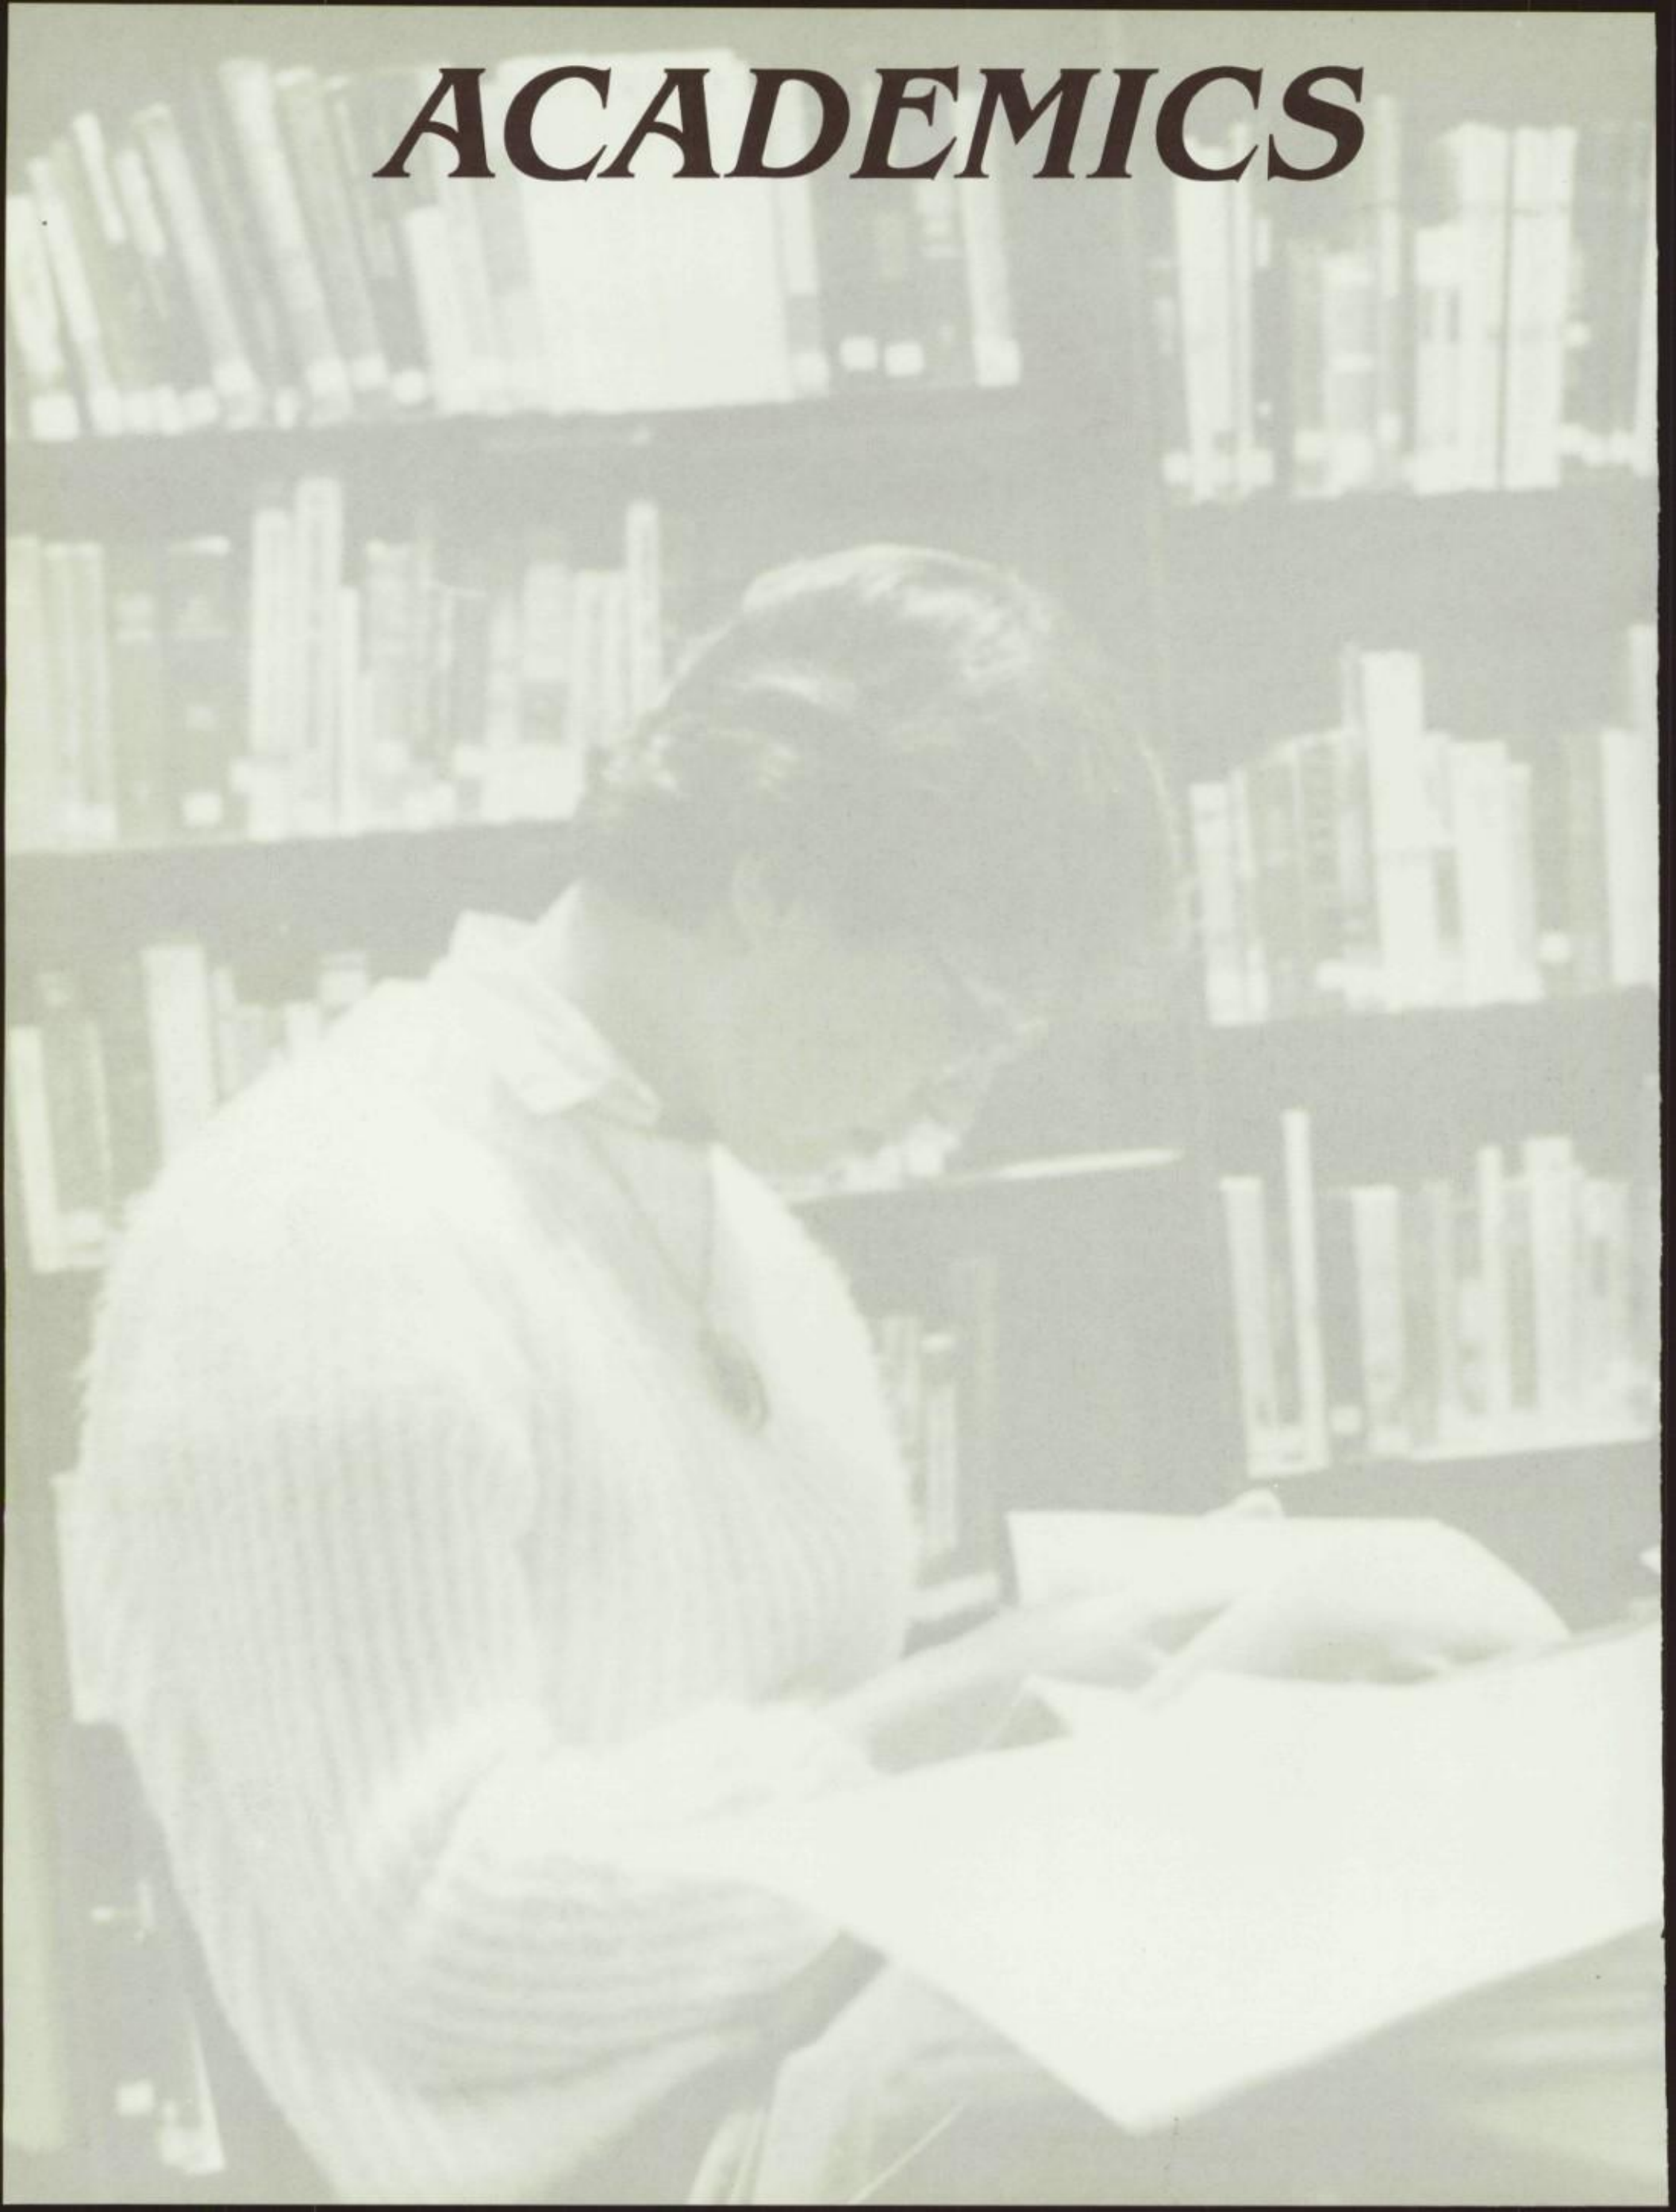
ACADEMICS



The beat goes on

Eight new students were welcomed into the choir this year. The program was taught by Mr. Keith Blau. Junior Elise Stevens, and Freshman Luke Walters accompanied the S.H.S. choir on piano throughout the year.

The choir performed at the Fall Concert, the Christmas Concert, the Tri-Valley Festival, and the juniors and seniors in the choir worked hard to be chosen to represent the school in Music in May.

Mr. Blau said, "The group provides a more confident sound with more students." The class was offered to students of all grades and was an opportunity to be yourself. Senior Amy Henifin explained, "Choir gives me a chance to explore the world of music."

Band gets active

Sherwood High School band helped out the 86-87 school year in many ways. They participated in a library open house at Tigard and played at the local Chamber of Commerce for a fundraiser on Valentine's Day. They also cheered on the athletes in pep band during the fall and winter sports season.

The band also participated in the Homecoming festivities. They marched in the parade and played "That's What Friends Are For" while the princesses made their rounds in the beautifully restored classic Thunderbirds.

Band students marched in OSU Band Day and attended the Tri-Valley Band Festival in April. Sophomore flutist Rachelle Rock commented, "OSU Band Day was fun, but it rained."

There were two band classes offered for grades 9-12 but some of the students felt that a freshman band should have been offered. According to Mr. Keith Blau, band instructor, the freshmen were less experienced and tended to get frantic while the older students tended to get frustrated because they had to stop more often.

When asked what he enjoys the most about band Mr. Blau answered, "Taking an unkown piece of music and making an expressive performance."

Art excels

There was a lot going on in the world of art at Sherwood High School this year. With four different classes offered, teacher Bob Douglas really had his hands full. "I enjoy teaching young people about art," commented Mr. Douglas. "I've gotten a lot out of it and want to put something back."

Most of the students taught by Mr. Douglas liked their classes. Senior painting student Becky Zurstadt commented, "I like art because its individualized to your own abilities." Fourth year art student Jason Biernat stated, "I like it because you can do what you want, there are no wrong answers."

The classes available to prospective art students were: General Art, Drawing and Graphic Design, Art Photography, and Painting. These were offered to all students with the successful completion of General Art.

TEACHER BOB DOUGLAS reassures junior Lori Nearing of her fine artistic talents.

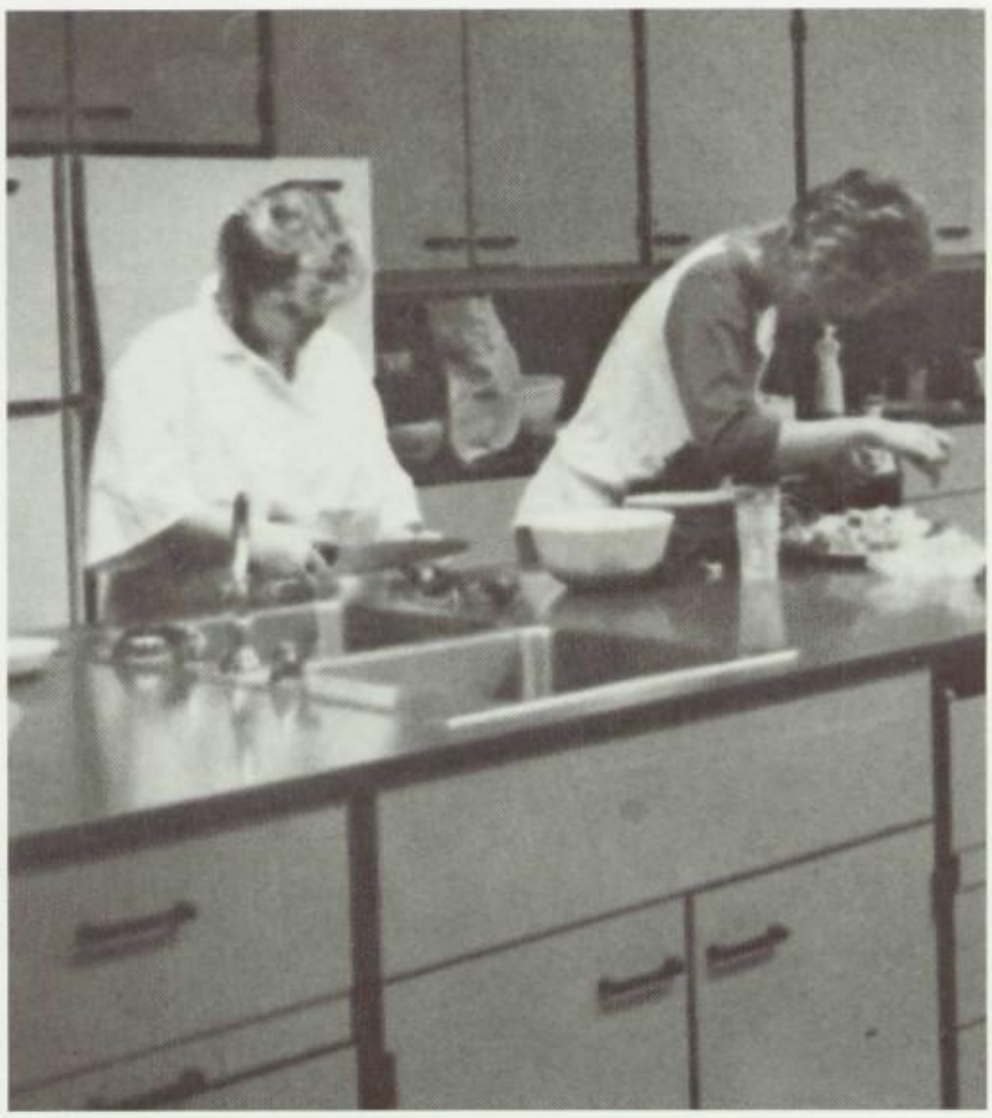
Skills enhanced

The Home Economics classes were lead through another exciting year as the new teacher, Joyce Brantley, took control. Mrs. Brantley replaced Mrs. Keely Reinhard in November while she was on maternity leave. When asked how she felt about her new job Mrs. Brantley exclaimed, "I love it! I really like it because it teaches kids about life-things they can really use in the future."

The students seem to enjoy the classes as well. Senior Carmeron Shook stated, "I like the cooking part. It helps me learn a lot about nutrition."

Senior Raena Dickey added, "I like the cooking labs because I learn skills I need for when I get out on my own."

There were four classes taught in the Home Economics department this year: Relating and Parenting, Sewing, Joy of Cooking and Contemporary Family. These classes are open to all students.



SOPHOMORES STEPHANIE FESSLER and Mary Campos take time off from their work to dip into the punch bowl.

WITH PRECISION AND SKILL, Freshmen Wallina Yohe and Cindy Payne work to prepare a dinner salad.

Language excels

Foreign language classes had a greater turn out of students this year. It is more organized because of a greater student participation in foreign language activities. Mr. Everett Clarkson, the Spanish teacher, planned a trip to Mexico for the students who were able to go.

Evelyne Blyth and Everett Clarkson both have similar ideas about the way their languages should be taught. They are both interested in communicating things to the students such as cultures and foods that come from different countries. Both foreign language teachers said they would enjoy teaching another language. Evelyne Blyth teaches English as a second language to a student.

Some of the students say they enjoy the language classes. They say it's easier to communicate with their teachers. When senior Kari Olsen was asked how she liked her Spanish II class she replied, "It's great. I love it!"

Six foreign language courses were offered to the students. French and Spanish in levels I, II, and II.

Talent discovered

If you were to wander into the industrial arts room, you may see a cedar chest, or a half-made car, or even a drift boat in the process of being created. There is a lot of talent in the shop classes that the rest of the school doesn't seem to realize.

Senior Gary Milburn found that he could make furniture cheaper and of better quality than those you buy at a store. "This way you know that your furniture isn't just cardboard with thin slabs of wood on top of it." said Gary.

Another class offered in industrial arts is auto shop. David Reasor said, "I'm trying to learn skills to work on my own car so that I don't have to pay someone else to do it."

When asked how he felt about the wood shop teacher, Mr. Tannehill, senior Toai Nolan motioned "thumbs-up" and commented, "It's nice to have a teacher who not only teaches but is also your friend."

INTENTLY TRYING TO LEARN how to fix the wheels so that they're ready to cruise the streets of Sherwood, is junior Matt Watson.

MAKING SURE THAT junior Danny Brasdhaw doesn't mess up or create something new out of their project, is junior Keith Bassett.

Basic skills taught

There were a total of five p.e. classes at SHS this year. Four of them were freshmen p.e. classes taught by Miss Iola Martinson, and the other was a co-ed p.e. class, taught by Mr. Tom Tannehill.

When asked if she liked teaching freshman p.e., Miss Martinson replied, "Yes. It's structured and the program is already layed out for the whole year!" She also stated, "The kids are more interested in their grades compared to other classes I've taught." Tom Tannehill has one co-ed p.e. class and when asked if he enjoyed teaching it, he replied, "I like it when the class likes it!"

PAT BURKE ENFORCES his discipline program on a freshman p.e. class.

FRESHMAN ERIC SCHNEIDER engages in an intense hockey swing.

JUNIOR KELLY MARSH runs downfield for a touchdown.

Dedication arrives

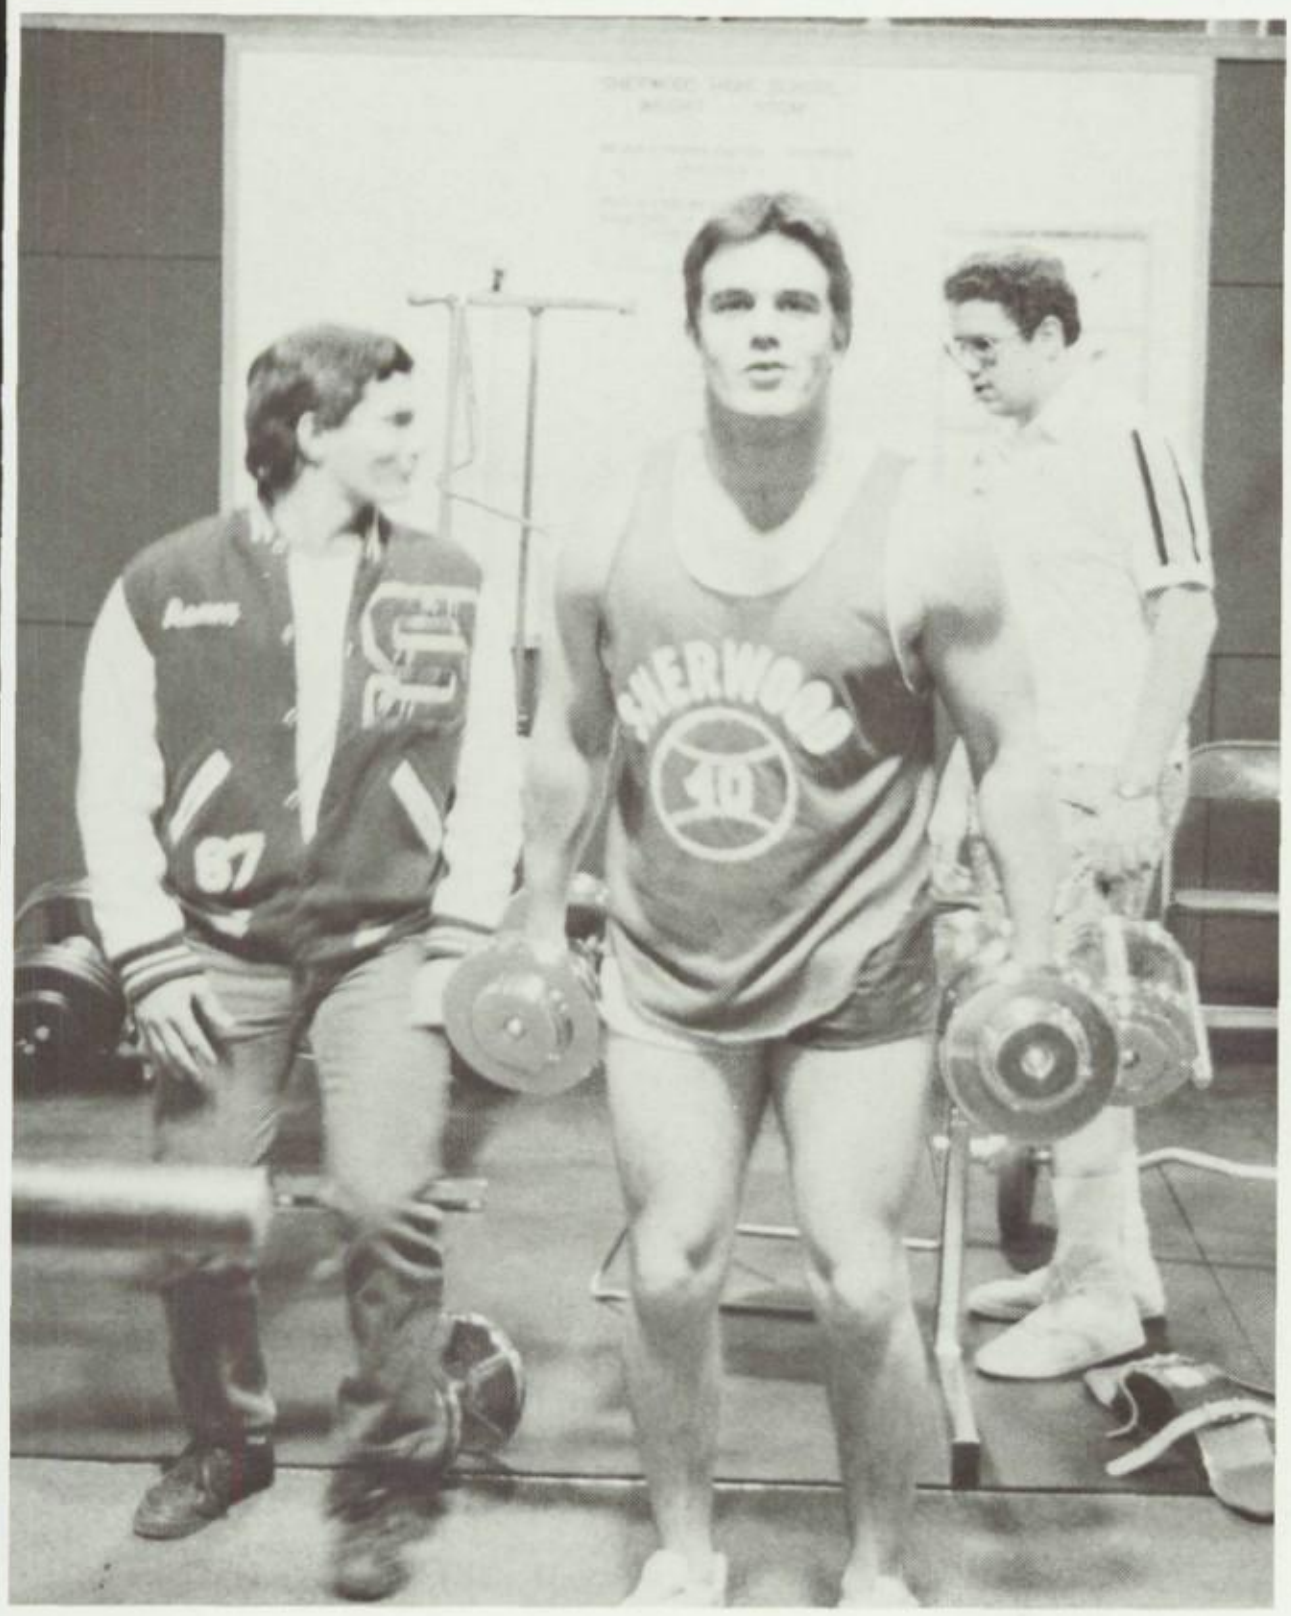
This year's physical conditioning class was taught by Mr. Rob Slauson.

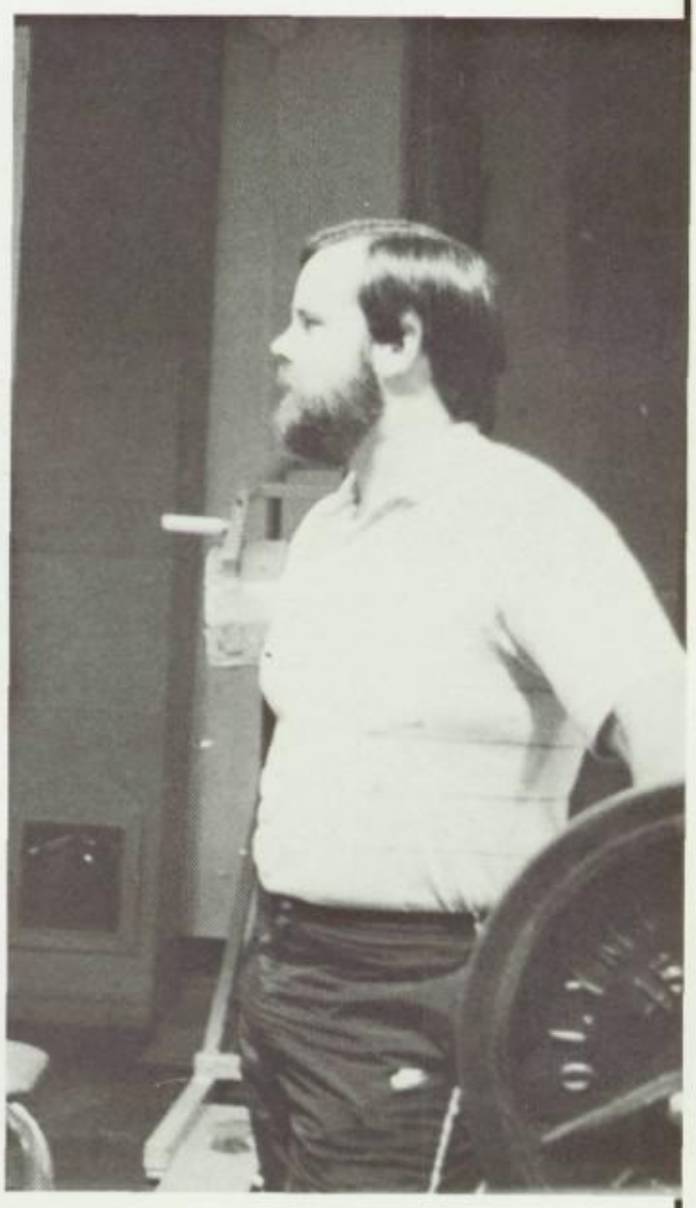
"The class improved greatly compared to last year. There is a lot more dedication," stated senior Justin Hubbenette.

The class had the same weekly schedule of activities that was used in the previous year. Mondays, Wednesdays, and Fridays are weightlifting days, while Tuesdays are running days and Thursdays are game days.

"Game days were when most students let out their frustrations," commented senior John Hein. They had a choice of playing hockey, volleyball, basketball, or indoor soccer.

Tryouts for Iron Man came at the end of each semester. It was a combination of tests that a person must take in order to receive the Iron Man award. Tests were taken on the ram rack, bench press, military press, curls, and on conditioning.





SENIOR DENICE WEIGEL submits to physical torture.

SENIOR JUSTIN HUBBENETTE struggles to carry the weights, while Damon Bowen and Bill Shaw look on.

MR. ROB SLAUSON shows us his good side.

Aid for the future

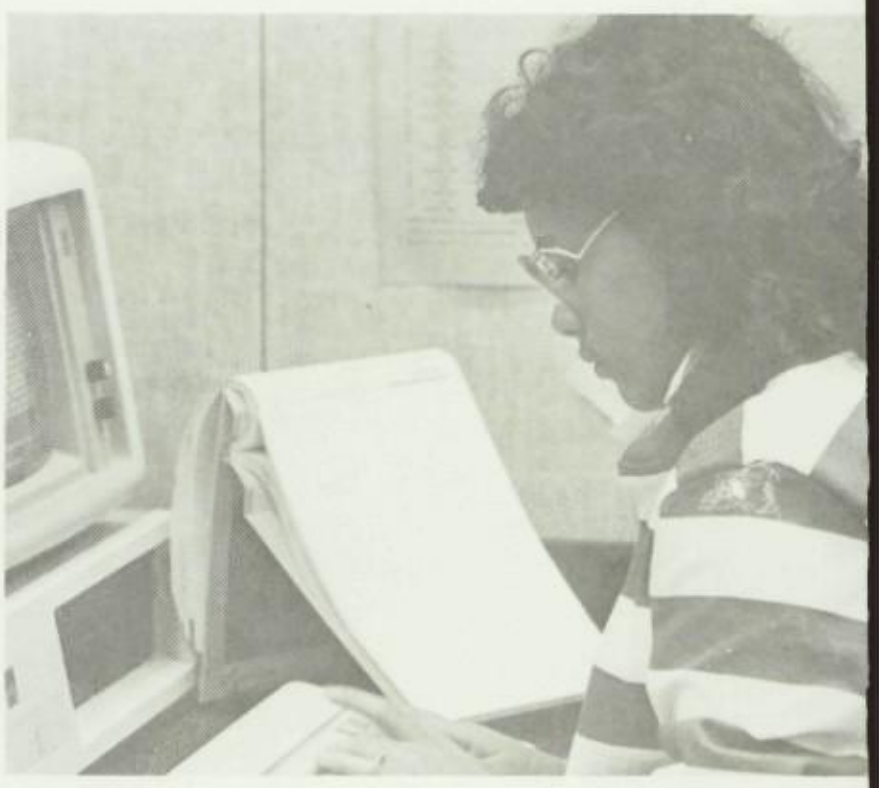
"I have learned a lot," stated sophomore Computer I student Eric Christensen.

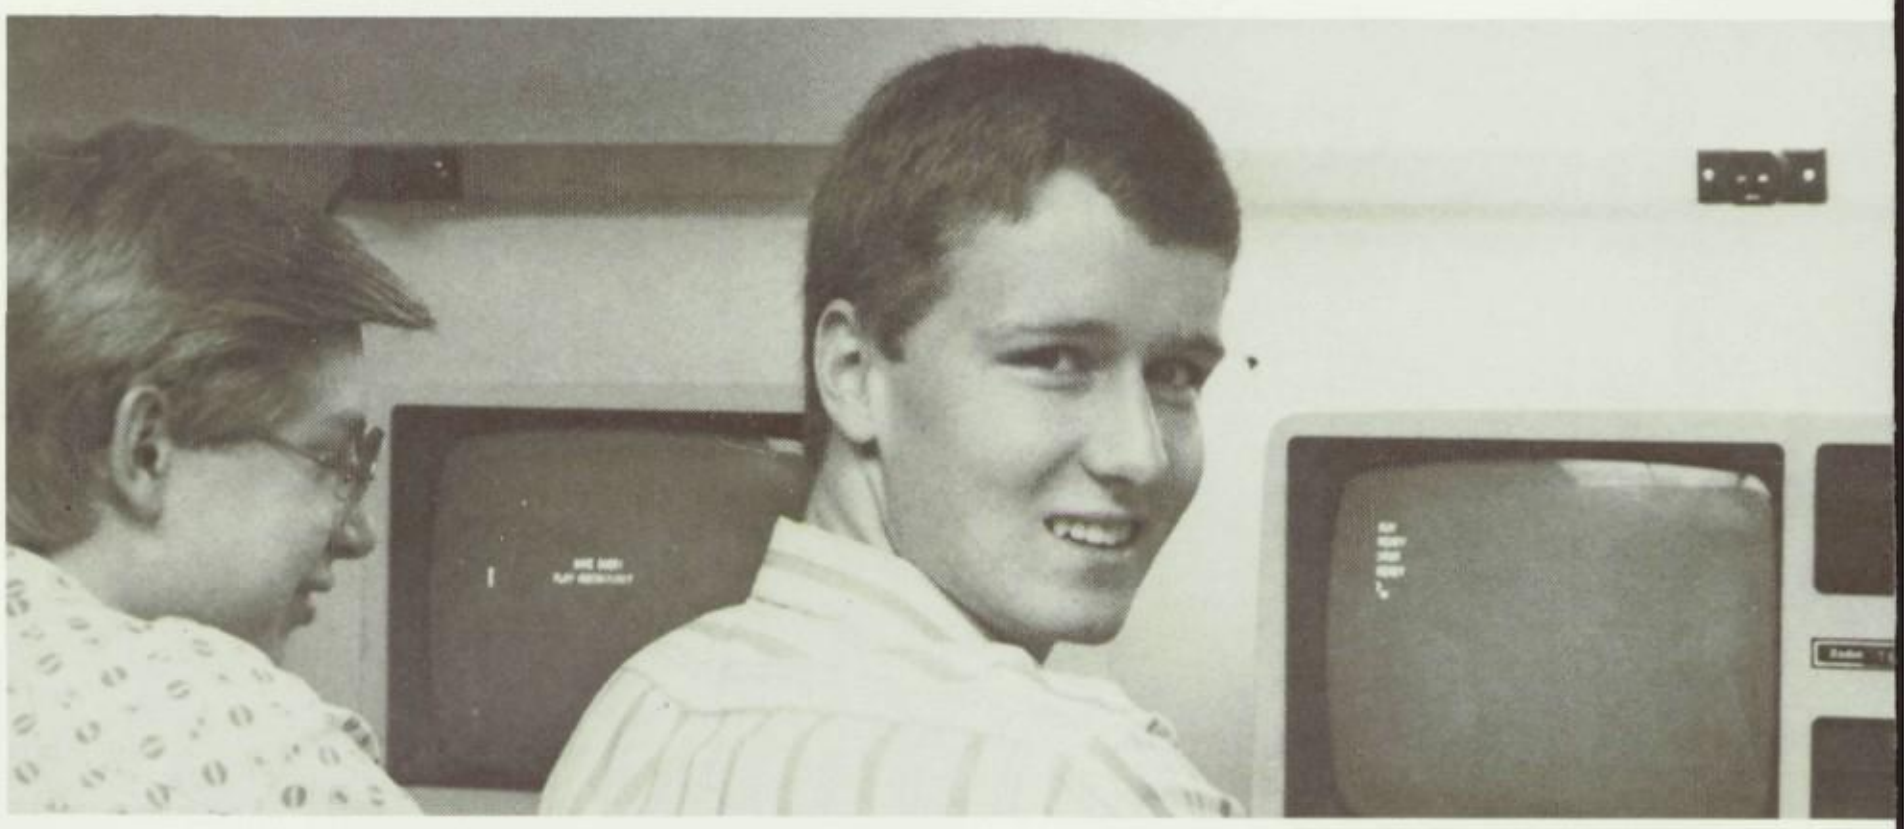
Computer was offered at Sherwood in two different classes; Computer I and Computer II.

Junior Christi Coons explained, "I have learned a lot, not only the basic skills but also advanced skills such as computer programming.

Business classes were also offered at Sherwood High. "The classes I have taken will not only help me now, but they will also help me in my future years and also in my future career," stated senior business student Sondra Anderson.

According to senior Maria Schmidt," to most people the class might seem boring but I find it very interesting and it will definitely help me in my future after school. It takes work and time and with that it can be a fun class."

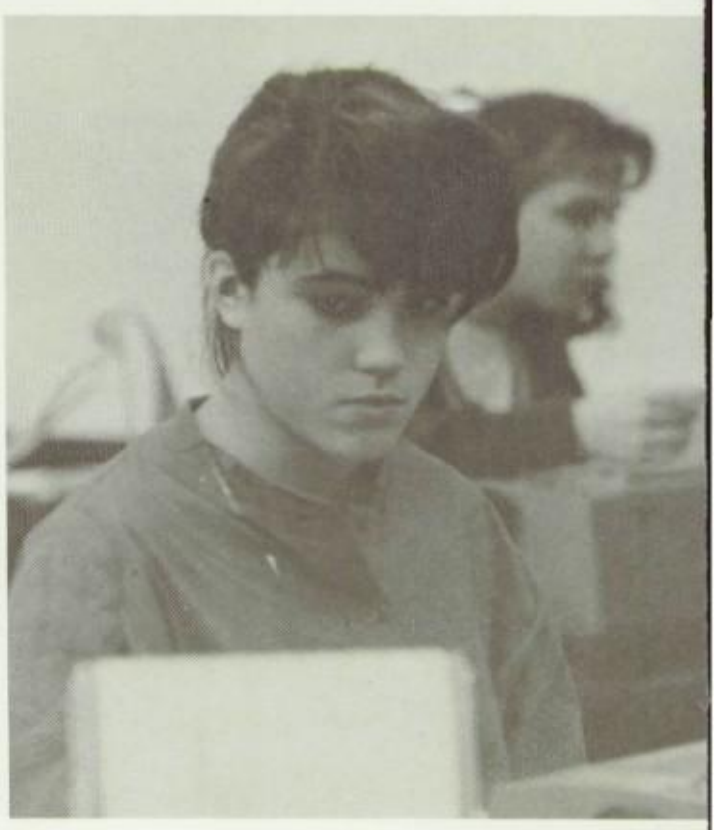




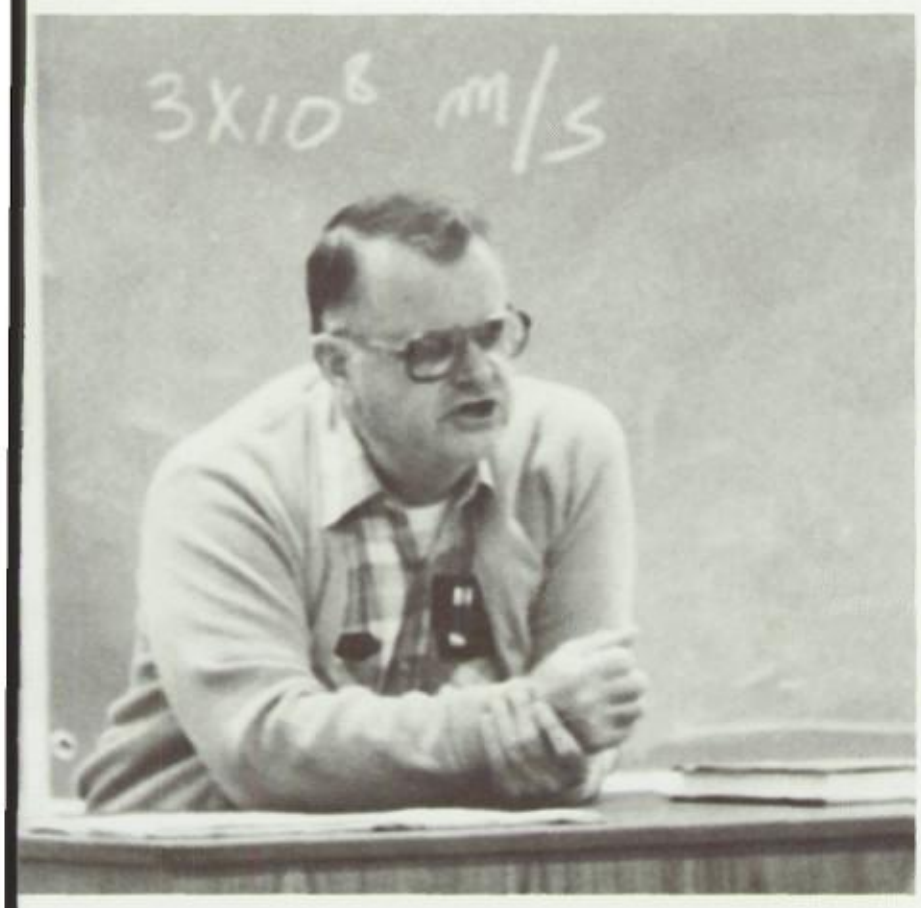
SENIOR JULIE LAWS works on a computer program in her business class. Computers are getting very popular and most people feel they will be a big help in their futures.

SENIOR DOUG STEVENS poses for the camera in his Computer I class. Computers are beginning to be a big part in the business world and any skills people can get will help them.

SENIOR TODD BARTON works on the adding machine in his business class. Many business classes were offered this year and they seemed popular due to the turnout.



FRESHMAN MELISSA ROSSA shows extreme concentration while typing in her Typing I class. Typing was another well liked class which had a very good turnout.



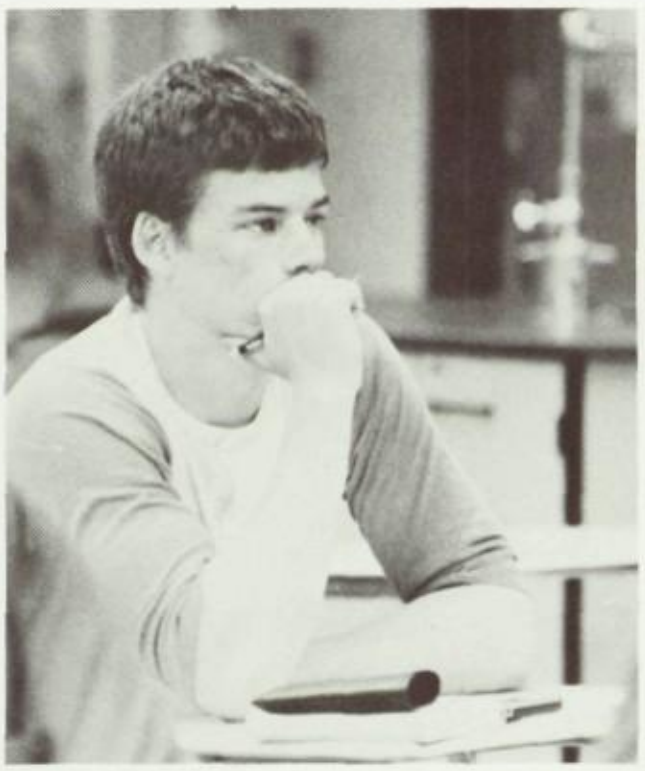
Exploring life

In the science department, there were several classes offered this year. Mr. Doug Smith, Mr. Terrel Smith, and Mr. Bob Holton were among the three science instructors. Each of them remained busy all day long preparing for class activities and experiments.

Natural science involved the study of mass, density, astronomy, and aviation. They also explored a little of chemistry and mechanics.

Physical science dealt with the exploring of matter. Biology dealt with lab experiments and marine life. The students also learned a lot about genetics, the cell make-up, and various bacteria.

Among some of the advanced classes, were chemistry, physics, and biology II. Senior Jason Biernat from the physics class stated, "Science is knowledge you can always use as a basis to any real life situation." A new student into the physics class, senior Doug Stevens commented, "Labs are the best, after lecturing for a week you can apply what you learned and receive instant satisfaction."



MR. BOB HOLTON discusses the concepts of physics to an eager class.

SENIOR TRISHA KELLY discovers life beyond the human eye.

SENIOR TODD WIEDEMANN absorbs deep intellectual conversation.

A way of life

"Having the opportunity to help young people learn about ways to make their life a more quality one is an exciting proposition," explained Mr. Slauson.

There were five health classes offered this year. They were taught by Mr. Slauson, Miss Martinson, and Mr. Miglioretto, who was new to the program this year.

Mr. Miglioretto really enjoyed teaching the class because the subject was so relevant. He liked being back in the classroom; he felt like he was in charge.

Some topics that were covered included physical fitness, first aid, substance abuse, death and dying, family living, nutrition, and drivers ed.

"This year it seems like I have the best kids in school in my classes. They're fun to work with!" claimed Mr. Slauson.

Sophomore Bryan Henifin's personal favorite was the seating arrangement. "It's casual!"

At your service

Special Education was once again offered to the SHS students in the 86-87 school year. It was taught by Mrs. Sue Chambers with assistance from Mrs. Audrey Keicher who helped two periods a day. There were approximately 30 students enrolled in the class and several other students who Mrs. Chambers worked with on a fairly regular basis.

This class provided additional help to students in all subject areas where they needed assistance. Mrs. Chambers also offered Math 300 as a second year math course for students who didn't want to move on to Algebra. She also provided a computer with programs that were supplementary to their classes. Some students took advantage of the computer to type up reports and do other various school-related assignments.

Another new program offered in Special Ed was vocational skills. Mrs. Chambers worked with the Tigard Youth Service Center to help her students find jobs.

Mrs. Chamers said that Special Ed is, "a very rewarding area to work in because it's fun to get to know the kids and see them grow".

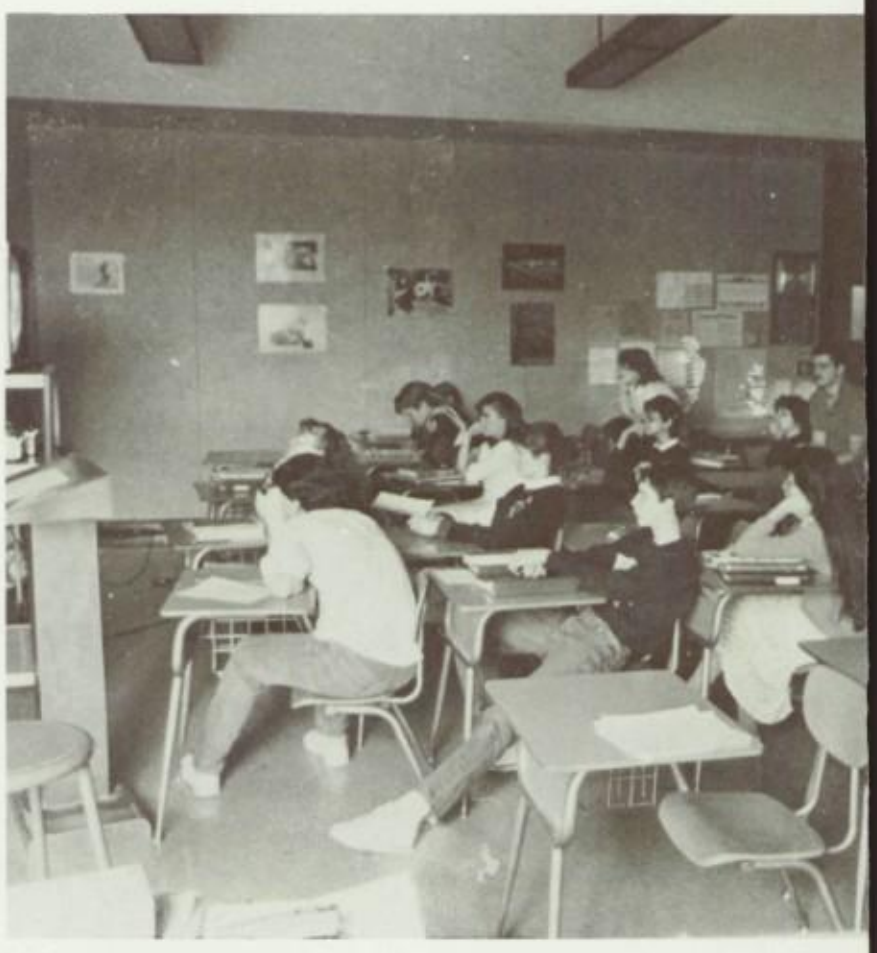
Variety offered

"Students are placing more emphasis on accelerated education," commented the newest addition of the English department, Mr. Alan Howard. Mr. Howard, who took the place of Mr. Andy Sommer at the beginning of the year, has been teaching for fifteen years. When asked how he felt about the students at Sherwood High School he stated, "We have an excellent student body who have a good balance between extra-curricular activities and education."

One goal of the English department this year was to enhance both writing and verbal communication skills of the students. This was done through the wide variety of english classes available to students looking for something just a little different. Classes other than Basic English included: Advanced English, Creative Writing, Contemperary and American Literature, Publications, Yearbook, Speech, and Drama. Sophomore Jennifer Cain stated, "I really like Accelerated English because we get to do a lot of different stuff."

Mrs. Jennifer Atwood summed up the success of the year by saying, "It was wonderful! Students were very positive and had a lot of enthusiasm."



WATCHING WITH INTENT INTEREST, students enjoy viewing films of books they have read in class.

Psych moves on

Psychology and Sociology were two elective courses offered at Sherwood High School this year. The courses were taught by Mr. Mike Yuille, who was also busy with four other classes: Economics, Citizenship, and A.P. History for juniors and seniors.

Senior Tami Leonard explained, "Mr. Yuille's Psychology class is a good asset to the school. He opens doors for students who are college bound."

Sociology and Psychology are semester courses both dealing with the study of people and their behaviors as individuals in a group of by themselves. The Psychology class had a project his year dealing with the teachings of a rat. Each student thought up a task for their rat to do and went forth in teaching it through reinforcement from food. The project was a great experience for the students and urged them to learn.

A new policy that was added to Mike Yuille's class this year, was a five absent maximum policy. This was due to the excessive absences of the students. "The policy went well and will probably continue throughout my teaching years." commented Mr. Yuille.

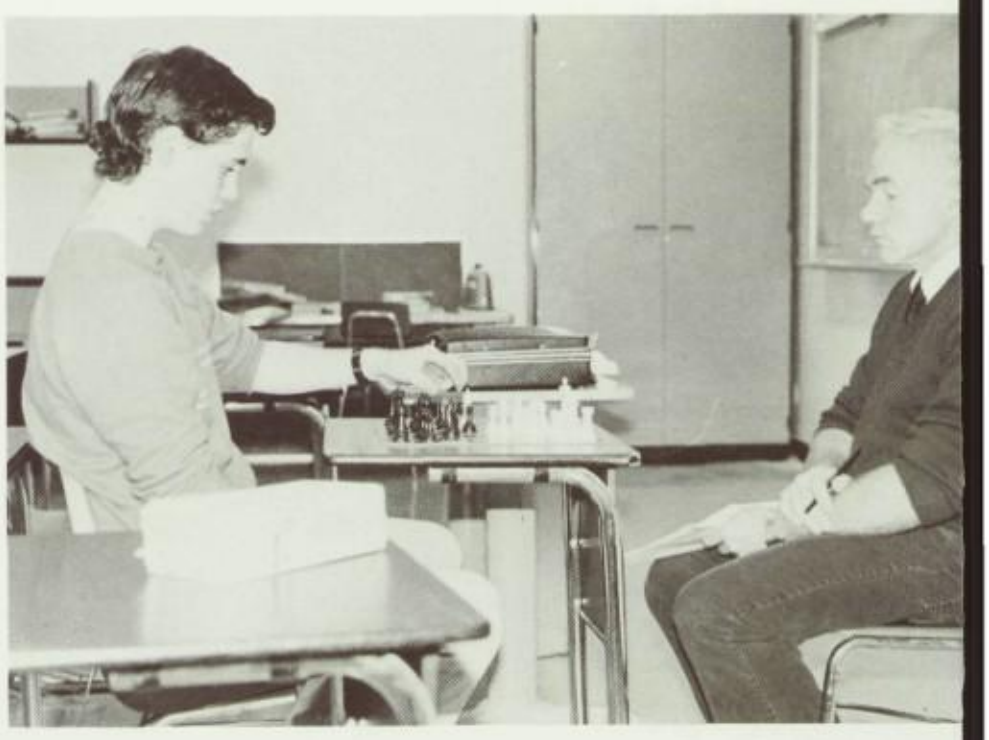
Classes challenge

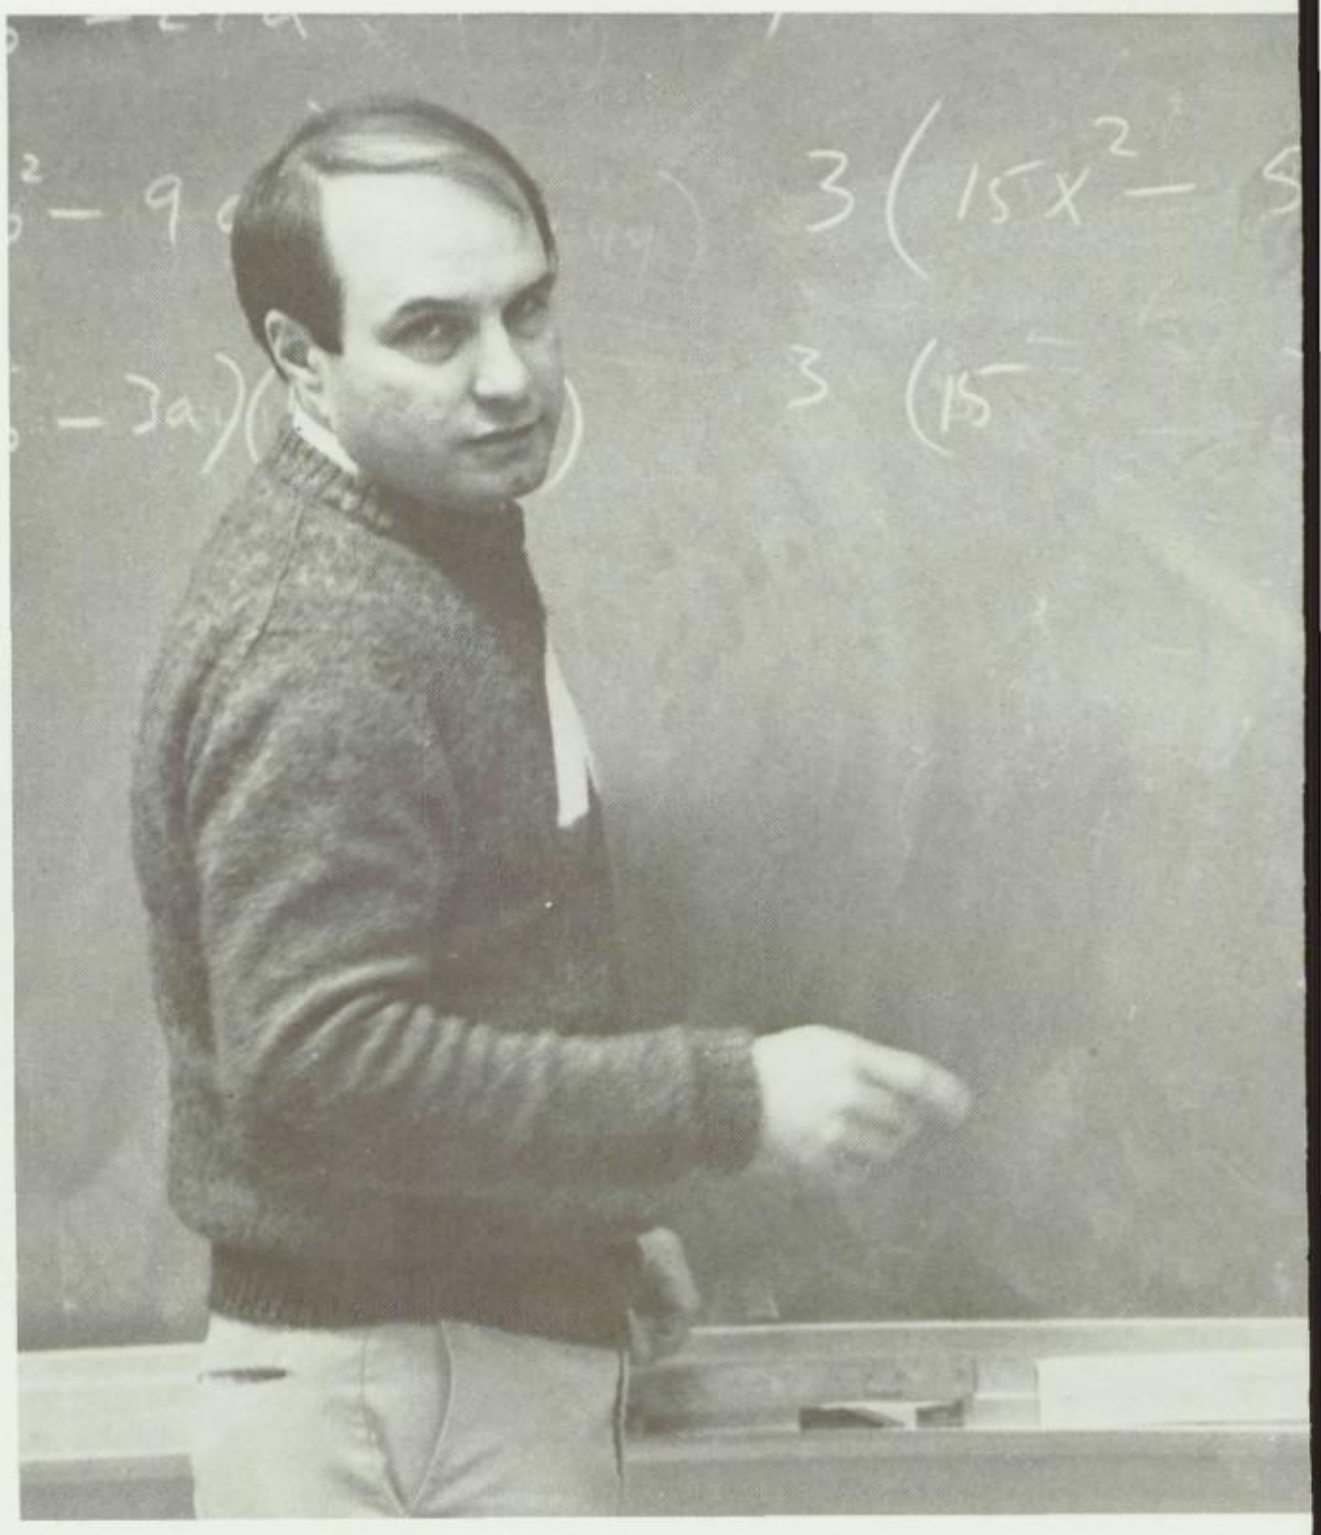
This year's math department has worked to help students prepare for life after graduation.

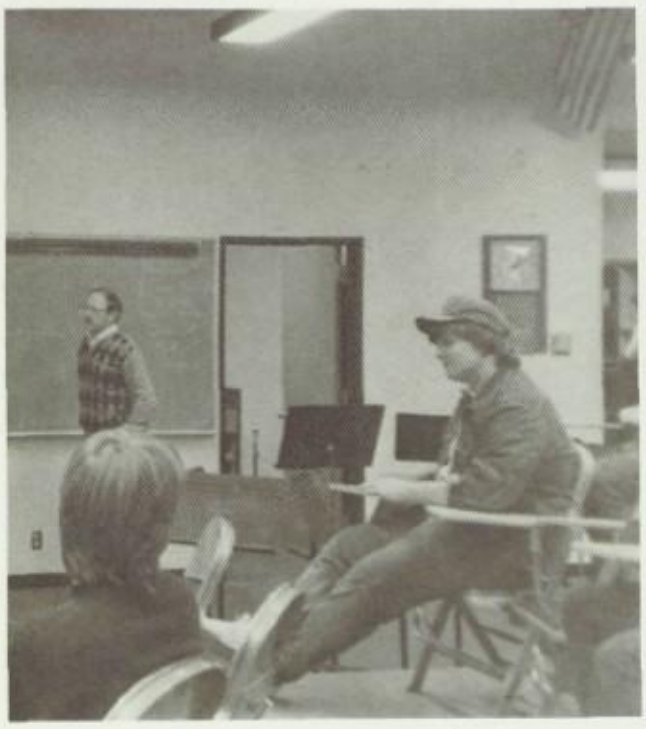
"We have a good staff working hard to continue a good program" commented Mrs. Carol Marshall, one of four math teachers at Sherwood High School.

General Math, taught by Mr. Keith Blau, helped students build a strong foundation in basic skills. Algebra, Geometry and Algebra II, taught by Mr. Ryan Bryson and Mrs. Marshall, provided a basis for such college courses as Trigonometry and Calculus, which were taught by Mr. Jeff Wright.

Senior Larry Cluff stated, "I take math because it's a necessity. Almost everything we do is related to mathematics in some way or another. I like the advanced math classes because they're challenging."







MR. JEFF WRIGHT takes time out from his classes to enjoy a challenging game of chess with senior Duane Veach.

A look in the past

There were three types of history classes offered at SHS. Global Studies, U.S. History and Advanced Placement History.

Global Studies was a one year course for sophomores focusing mainly on cultural geography. this course was taught by Mr. George McAdams and Mrs. Sue Hering.

U.S. History was taught by Mr. Gayle Mishler and designed for juniors who didn't want the challenge of AP History.

AP History was taught by Mr. Mike Yuille for juniors and seniors. It was a two year course of an in depth study of history and it allowed students to get their Economics and Citizenship credits for completing the course. Senior Shay Nanna commented, "Mr. Yuille makes it interesting even though sometimes he lectures a lot. I think I make it interesting for Mr. Yuille!"

PRACTICING THEIR COMMUNICATION SKILLS are freshman Celeste White and junior Alisha Pattison. Communication was emphasized in Gov. and Lead.

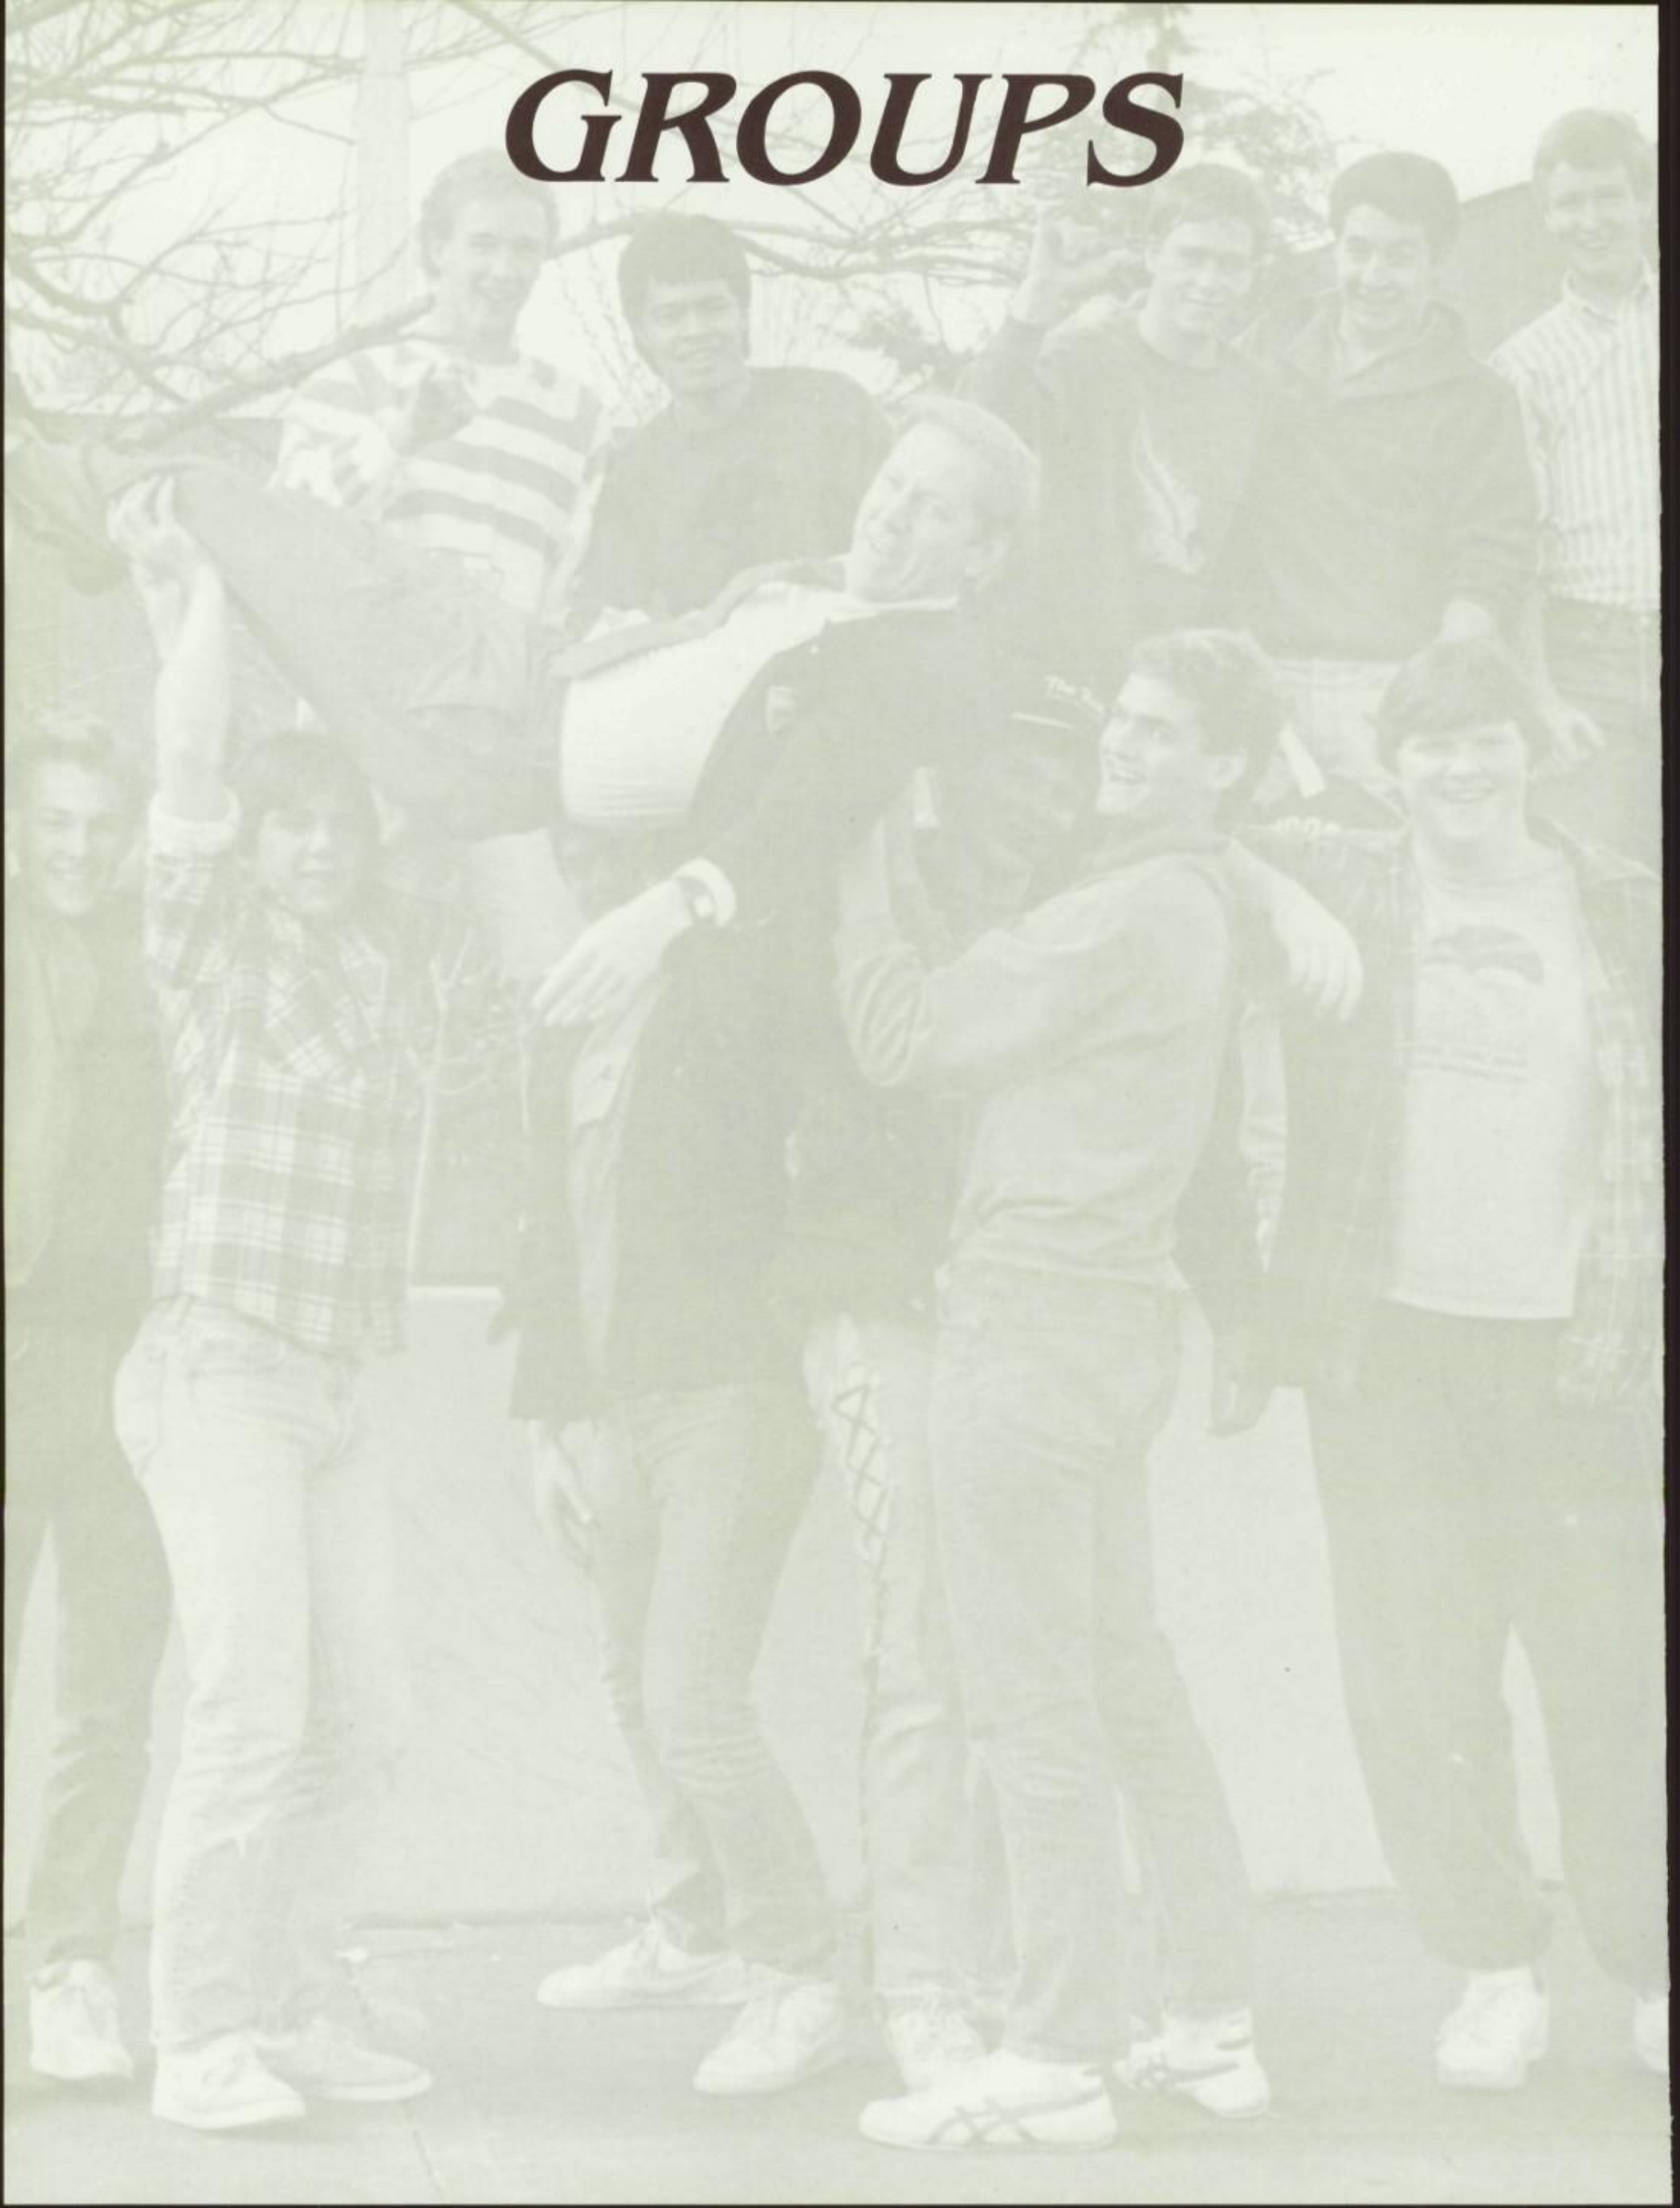
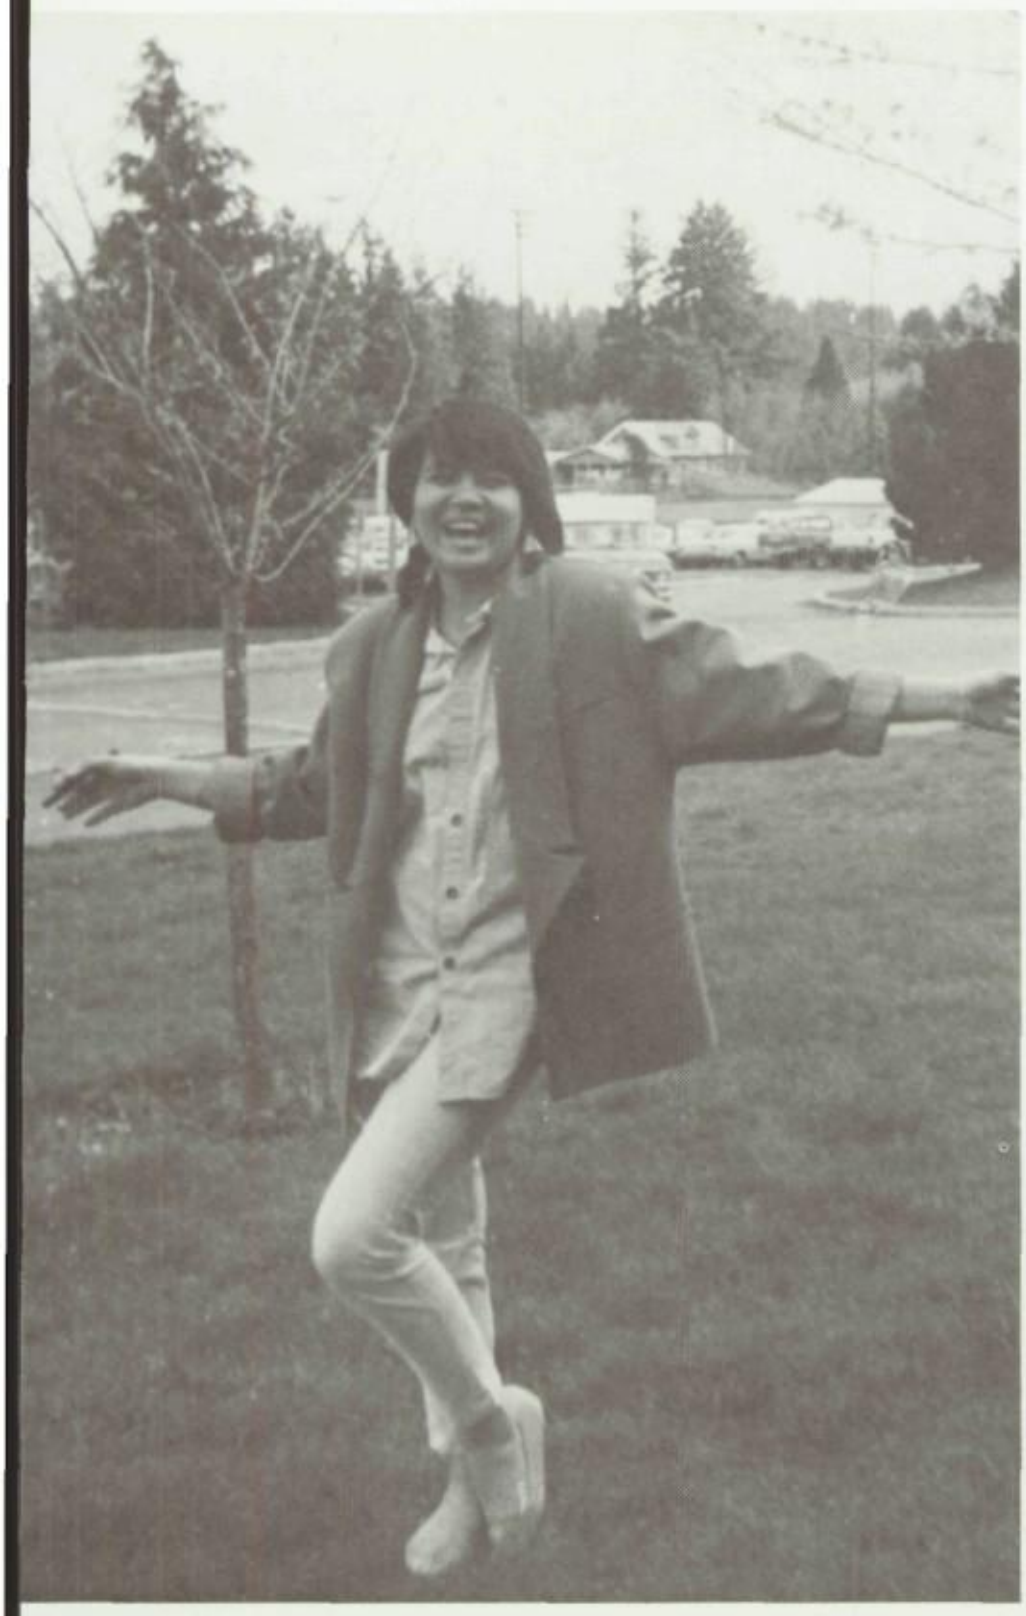
GROUPS



Sherwood finds culture

The International club got the ball rolling early in the year and kept it moving through the end. Club activities included dining at foreign restaurants, parties, fundraisers, and the Foreign Flair. Other activities included a trip to Mexico by eight Spanish students during Spring break and a proposed trip to France during the Summer. "The students have really devoted their time," commented club advisor, Evelyne Blyth. "They went far beyond what I had expected."

April Gomez was an exchange student from the Philippines. A member of the Rotary exchange, April has gained a lot from her stay at Sherwood. "I'm learning to be more independent," commented April. "It's really easy to make friends here."



ROTARY EXCHANGE STUDENT, April Gomez enjoyed her stay in Sherwood, as shown in this photograph.

Hot in competition

FFA kept themselves busy during the 86-87 school year. They competed in several contests such as Parliamentary Procedure, Public Speaking, and Rituals where they took 1st place, held banquets, and even managed to fit in a couple of beach trips. Along with all of this they worked on the club scrapbook and ended up winning at District with it.

Many skills were also learned and sophomore Sandee Foster stated, "I've learned leadership, dedication, friendship, and its a lot of fun!"

According to club president Deanne Elligsen, winner of the State Farmer award, "FFA is a lot of fun, but it's also a lot of work."

NHS collects 246,933 cents

The 1986-87 National Honor Society of Sherwood High School seemed to have "become active for the first time in history," according to NHS president Todd Wiedemann. They did many activities that kept them busy during the entire year. Some of their activities included talking to the fifth graders about drugs and alcohol, helping the "Blue Ribbon Committee" promote the local tax base, they put up posters against DUII around the community, and they put together the all school assembly in which the nineteen new members were inducted into the NHS.

NHS's main activity was a year long penny drive to raise money for a drug and alcohol rehabilitation program and scholarships. Their goal was to collect 1,000,000 pennies, however they ended up with 246,933 which was a quarter of their goal.

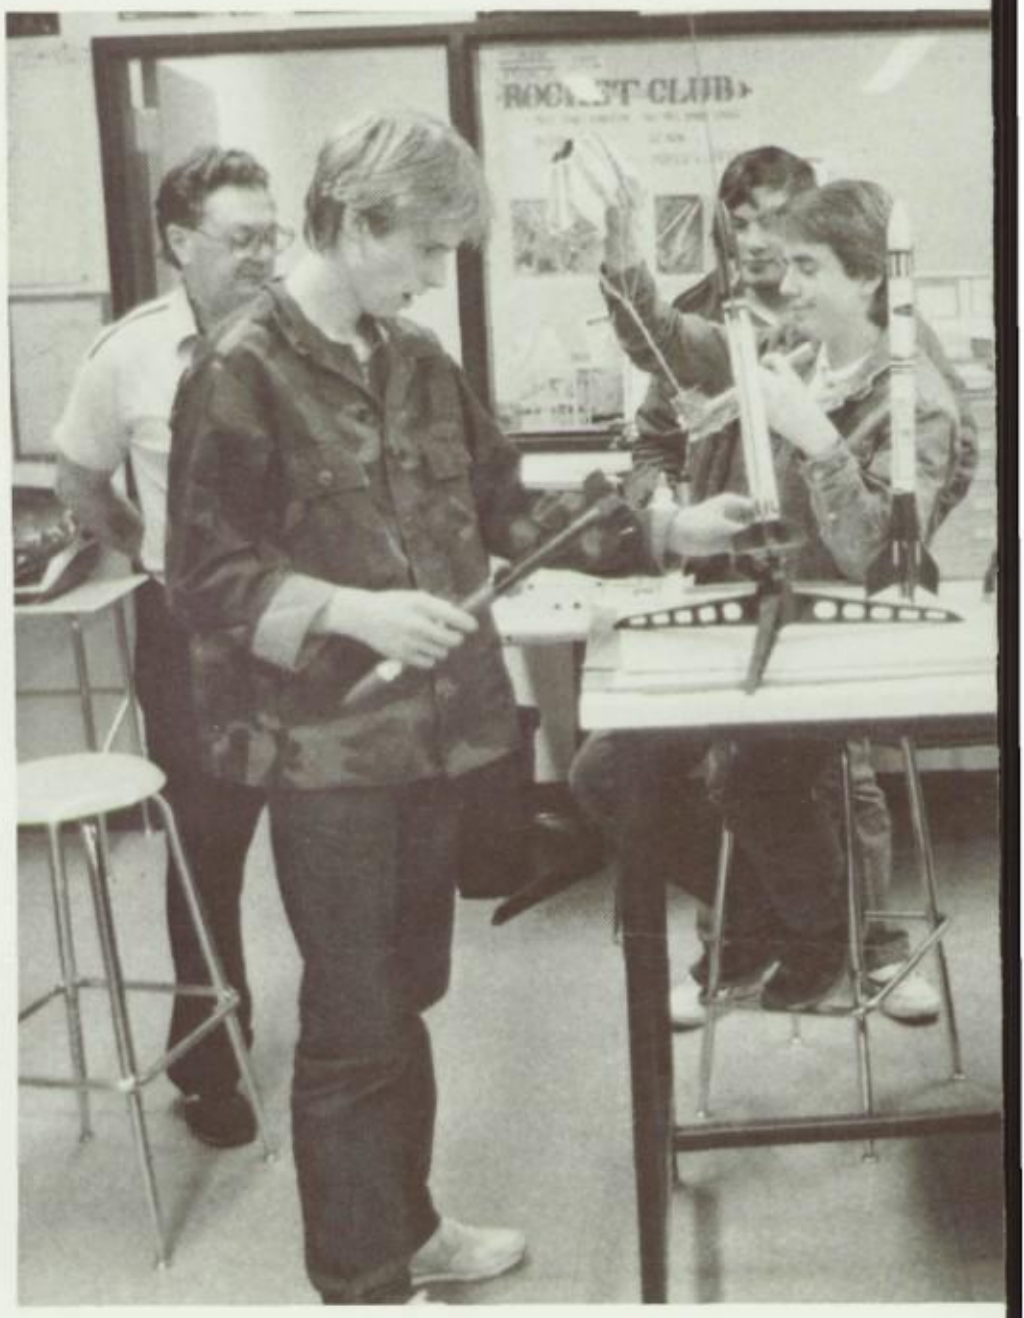
Rocket club keeps busy

SHS Rocket club was once again active during the '86-'87 school year. Not only did they have several launches, but their float won first prize in the Homecoming Parade, and they spent time over at the Intermediate school in hopes to get the eighth graders interested in the club for next year. Another job of the club was to park cars at Graduation.

Rocket club was advised by Mr. Rod Butterworth, who has held that position for 17 years.

According to club president Jamie Anderson, "There is a $2.00 membership fee and the club is a lot of fun." Mr. Butterworth added, "We have a big, huge pizza party at the end of the year."



FRESHMAN JAMES RAINEY works on his rocket while senior Terry Etzel admires his display. There were 14 members in the 86-87 Rocket club.

Success boils

Roses and valograms were circulated around the high hool thanks to FHA (Future Homemakers of America) Valentine's Day. Not only was this fundraiser a success t also the after game Valentine's Dance they put on.

"The best moneymaker had to be the candy cane les!" said advisor Mrs. Joyce Brantley. At Christmas he they also made a food basket to give to a needy mily.

Now where did all this money earned through fun-aisers go? It allowed the members to go to the State nvention for all FHA clubs in the state on April 10 and . "State Convention was a blast!" stated Johnna Page. Club officers were President Candy Walker, Vice Presi-nt Johnna Page, Secretary Stephanie Fessler, and Histo-ns Hallie Porter and Shawna Hughes.

Manhunt hits

If you liked to be with a bunch of high school students who did activities which could be rowdy at times or serious at others, Campus Life was the club to get involved in. Not only did they have fun activities but they also took time to discuss certain typical teenage problems and tried to find the best solution for them.

One exciting activity which probably highlighted the club's year was the great manhunt. It began as a small group hunting for people with certain qualities. As these chosen prople, without any kind of notice, were snatched from their homes, the Campus Life group grew.

President of the club, senior Ron Tobias commented, "I just wish more people would realize that it's not just based towards religion, we have a lot of fun too!"

Slopes add life

With excitement running through them, 100 SHS students climbed on the comfortable Greyhound buses for four consecutive Sundays during the ski club season. The club's officers were President Shay Nanna, Vice-President Damon Bowen, Secretary Judie Robinson and high school advisor Mrs. Carol Edwards.

Overall, Hood River seemed to be the favorite run among Sherwood students because of the many different routes which met almost anyone's ability. However, there were exceptions. Senior Tim Wilson enjoyed whizzing down Elevator Shaft. When asked why, he exclaimed, "Because they're not flat!"

Sophomore Tracy Ferschweiler had a different opinion of his favorite run. He found Buttercup to be just as challenging as Elevator Shaft was to Tim Wilson. Tracy commented, "There are a lot of good looking chicks up on Buttercup!" Maybe this is why he didn't attempt to advance.

The only thing that members wanted to change about the ski club was to go on Mondays when it wasn't so crowded.

Anne participated in both league competition, the ague consists of sixteen other schools, and she also ompeted in the Senior State Finals. This was a champion-ip meet held at Mt. Anne enjoyed swimming and commented, "I was taking vimming lessons and just decided to try competitive vimming and I've been at it ever since."

To become a member of the SHS swim team you had to ualify as an acceptable swimmer through Mr. Vic Mig-oretto, join a swim club and provide your own transpor-tion.

Staff unites

Under the leadership of Mrs. Nancy McCusker and editor, Michelle Dickover, the 1986-87 yearbook staff has worked hard all year to put together a high quality book for the students, family, and friends of Sherwood High School. To raise money for the book the class jumped right into ad sales early in September. By the end of the first quarter they had sold $4,818 in advertising, exceeding their goal by nearly $1,200.

Next, the staff put their heads together in a valiant effort to choose a theme. This year's theme, "Feel the Heat," was suggested by Michelle. After selecting an appropriate theme, the class lost no time in getting the first assignments completed.

"We have a well organized editor who knows what needs to be done and does it," stated Mrs. McCusker. "The extra time put in by students outside of class has really helped," concluded Michelle.

Enthusiasm overcomes size

"This year was really rewarding working with friends, and it was a great way to be recognized for our efforts," said the Arrow Spot-Light Editor, senior Jennifer Reynolds.

The Arrow Staff's Advisor, Nancy McCusker, was working hard to pull the understaffed Arrow staff through their responsibilities.

Arrow Staff being on a deadline schedule, worked on publishing one paper a month, each paper being eight pages, and then taken to the Kerr Publishing Co. in Portland. The staff sold donuts twice a week for fifty cents each to help pay for the publishing of the paper.

Although understaffed, they all put out extra effort to get the job done. The class was offered as an elective class to sophomores, juniors, and seniors. Newspaper could have also been used as an English credit for who ever needed it.

Senior Amy Fox, the Exchange Editor said, "This year we encountered a few problems because the staff was so small, but hopefully next year more people will realize the opportunities of the class and look into being part of the Arrow Staff."

Student council proves theme

Student council's theme for this year was "We've got it!" "They seemed to carry out their theme quite well this year," commented junior Elise Stevens.

Student council kept themselves really busy this year. They sponsored all kinds of activities as well as made some changes within the school. Some of the changes and new activities included a new election system which allowed new officers to be elected and take over in February, and they bought a jukebox for the Commons.

Mrs. Kenni Spencer, Activities Director said that, "this year kids wanted to become involved and were more interested in their school." She felt that there were a lot of people with positive attitudes who were willing to work.

Dance team on to State

"We improved a lot," commented sophomore Amy Squires. The Arrows Sherwood's dance team performed many times during the 86-87 school year.

Many of the team members felt that their best performance was at the Stayton Competition where they performed against several other dance teams. The dance team also made it to state this year.

The team was advised by Sandy Dickey and the captains were senior Jeni Reynolds and junior Teresa Eaton.

Freshman Tammee Gustafson remarked, "The advisor and the captains helped a lot and provided the leadership needed to give us a successful year."

The team members set goals both personal and for the team and dedication proved to be a positive aspect.

Cheerleaders look for school spirit

The 1986-87 cheerleading squads wanted more appreciation for the hard work that they did. Sophomore Laurie Burck, and Michelle Groom both agreed that, "more cooperation from the student body was needed." They felt that the student body didn't show much school spirit at all.

Senior Varsity Football cheerleader, Raena Dickey had similar feelings. She felt that during football season the crowds were responsive most of the time, but she said, "I wish cheerleading in this school had more respect, because in some schools it's considered a difficult sport."

The cheerleaders did have a fun year. The Varsity Football cheerleaders went to USA Cheerleading Camp and won the "hardest working" award, and as Raena put it, "we had a heck of a lot of fun!"

Some of their fundraisers included a car wash and a couple of after game dances.

Faculty on task

This year's faculty has devoted a majority of its time to the improvement of the school. Project Help was a program that aided students who needed help in their classes. The faculty was also active in a substance abuse program for the students. Proud of the school's special efforts, several of the faculty worked on an application for the State Secondary School Recognition Program.

Three new teachers climbed aboard the new year at S.H.S. Alan Howard, the new A.P. English teacher, took over for Andy Sommer. Mrs. Kathy Burnside replaced Mrs. Amy Mullin because of the adoption of her new Korean baby. Our new Home Ec. teacher, Joyce Brantley, replaced Keely Reinhard while she was on maternity leave.

"The significance to be proud enough of the faculty and school has made all of us donate our time and efforts," explained John Kelly, assistant Principal.

Freshmen positive

Sherwood High School saw many faces with the arrival f the class of 1990, the 1986-87 freshmen.

Tradition was changed a little. The freshmen had to nake the St. Patrick's Dance a success. Working toward a uccessful dance were freshmen class officers: President ick Keeler; Vice-President Darren Martin; Secretary Scott lyers; Treasurer Mike DeSalvo; Activities Manager Tricia ockridge.

The advisors were Mrs. Darolen Sorum and Mr. Ryan ryson. Mrs. Sorum stated, "This is one of the most posi- ve freshman classes I've had to deal with in the four ears that I have been an advisor."

Working with the advisors, the class officers have come p with a few good ideas for fund raisers. "Next year when ney return as sophomores, the Homecoming Dance hould be a success due to their newly gained exper- ence," stated Mr. Bryson.

Enthusiasm shows

The sophomore class of 86-87 had a lot of responsibility put on them this year to do the Homecoming dance which was held on Saturday October 11, from 8-11 pm.

"They did a very good job," commented sophomore class advisor Mrs. Marshall when asked how the sophomores did organizing the dance.

It seemed to be the general opinion from everyone that the Homecoming dance was successful both in profit and enjoyment.

"Everyone who I talk to enjoyed the dance" noted student body president Johnna Page. "It was really fun."

The sophomore class has planned on starting some fundraisers to prepare for the 1988 prom.

"We hope to make the prom even better than the Homecoming dance," stated Stephanie Fessler.

When asked what made their sophomore year different from their freshman year the common answer was that the teachers expected a lot more from you. Vice President Kay Maunu commented, "We also seemed to be a lot more involved in student activities than we were last year."

Juniors take action

The Junior class, headed by President Robbie Van Winle, Vice President Jared Winkler, Secretary Jessica Oliphant, Treasurer Brannigan Heenan, and Activities Manger Elise Stevens, spent most of its time earning money by working the fall concessions and by selling chocolate throughout the school and the community. "The year's going pretty good," commented Brannigan Heenan. "I think what made it the best was the help of our advisor Mrs. Audra Puhl."

"The class is right on schedule," stated Mrs. Puhl, referring to the fundraising activities. "They have a really great group of officers."

"It's not just the officers," added Brannigan, "we've had a lot of help from our whole class."

Along with the Junior-Senior Prom, the junior class also won the honors of putting on this year's Christmas dance, which was held Saturday night, December 14. Over-all, "We're holding our own," concluded class president Robbie Van Winkle.

The senior girls find time to snuggle up to their senior hunks before time takes its toll and they're all gone and graduated.
Drinking "just one calorie" to keep up that awesome senior image.
Catching all those last minute memories on film, later to be used for embarrassment at class reunions.
Remembering all the practical jokes he played and blackmail information he's gathered through his memorable high school years.
Lettermen jackets were always thrown on as it was the last year to gain recognition and "oohs" and "aaahs" for being "the massive stud."
The "who cares" look was not only worn but also demonstrated through the seniors' actions towards school.

Seniors have challenging year

The senior class of 86-87 "kept us on our toes, not only as teachers but as administrators," commented senior class advisor Nancy McCusker. This was one of the most independent classes to come through SHS in a long time according to many of the students.

More involved in their earlier years, the seniors seemed to lose a lot of their school spirit as the year progressed.

Many strong points were also found among the senior class. For instance, according to senior class treasurer Scott Martin, "We do have some very good leaders and some very intellectual students who will be recognized for their success." Another important asset to the class was their loyalty to each other. "We tend to band together," commented Brad Brunhaver.

Accomplishing a very challenging goal in 1986, the se iors came together and each student paid $12 to get the senior section in color. This in itself showed that if they pu their minds to it, they could work together as a class an accomplish difficult tasks.

Some other achievements of the senior class were tha they put on the Junior-Senior Prom in 1986 and they wo Homecoming Week their sophomore year.

According to Jennifer Reynolds her senior year wa "The last carefree year of my life." When yearbook edito Michelle Dickover was asked to sum up her senior year i one word she replied, "Unforgettable!"

In ten years . . . . . .

Todd Barton- "I will be living in beautiful Alaska. I will be settled down in a large log cabin with my photo lab downstairs. I will be a successful photographer and will be photographing Alaska's beautiful habitat."

Tonya Barton- "I will be somewhere on the beaches of Brazil, having my own fashion agency and health spa, tanning 'til my little heart desires, and living in a large colonial home with the one and only man in my life, Steve Damman."

Jason Biernat- "I will be a successful graduate of Purdue University with a good career in Engineering. I will be very lucky and have a beautiful wife, both mentally and physically, with 3.2 kids and more on the way."

David Bousquet- "I will be the west coast distributor for Vuarnet products and paying off my speeding tickets from my red Ferrari."

Brad Brunhaver- "Sitting in my recliner, drinking a brew, watching my millions grow day by day."

Michelle Dickover- "I will not have a dozen kids!"

Julie Dix- "I will be happily married in a comfortable home."

Amy Fox- "I will be taking off in my white Ferrari to my personal condo in the CLUB MED where I will spend the afternoons lounging on the beaches and drinking an exotic drink with my rich, gorgeous husband."

Nick Harris- "I will be stuck on a desert island with one hundred other people after the plane I'm flying for Eastern goes down in the Bermuda Triangle."

Brett Hayes- "I will be playing linebacker for the Seattle Seahawks with a mohawk and an earring; protesting against steroids drug testing while making a million in royalties from my best-selling autobiography: 'The Bull'."

John Hein- "I will be living in the Carribean in a beach front house. I will have graduated from Southern Oregon State College with a degree in Business Marketing. I will also be taking an Algebra II class at a local community college and keeping in touch with Carol Marshall. I will be spending most of my time on the beach soaking up the sun with a six pack in each hand."

Amy Henifin- "I will be taking a vacation from our house in Beverly Hills in Tahiti, relaxing on the beach while sippi champagne with my husband, Scott Martin, and regretti the fact that we attended Sherwood High School."

Eric Johnson- "I will be catching waves at my rad Aust lian beach pad while my women polish up the Testerosa ni Reynolds- "I will be back here at Sherwood High for r ten year reunion laughing at: Justin's beer belly, Bob's kids, and Mike still being single."

evor Solander- "I will be living life to its fullest extent in nny Southern California. I will most likely have two kids one wife . . . a dog . . . and a fast, fast, fast car."

ul Spath- "I will be cruising Sherwood Boulevard in the me white pick-up, house hopping between Elizabeth's d Missy's houses, and cleaning out their refrigerators. course I will still be telling everyone to take a stress tab d that they are pathetic."

nna Stark- "I will be the most famous lawyer in L.A. iving a black Ferrari with gold trim. I will be married to uce Willis, live in a beach house in Malibu, and have two ds, an American quarter-horse, and a poodle. I will also president of Adolph Coors & Co . . ."

ncan Tollen- "I will be running down the street with a llet in my gut and a gun in my hand! Running from the A. cops for starting a riot at a local hard core show!"

n Turnlund- "I will be married, working or owning my n beauty and fitness shop. Possibly have three kids."

chelle Underdahl- "I will be laying back on the sunny aches of Acapulco with the rest of the "crowd" with a se of Hamm's in one arm and a few guys in the other."

Duane Veach- "I will be happily married and having the time of my life."

Candy Walker- "I will be a well paid stewardess and living somewhere in Europe. On my spare time, I will be traveling around the world."

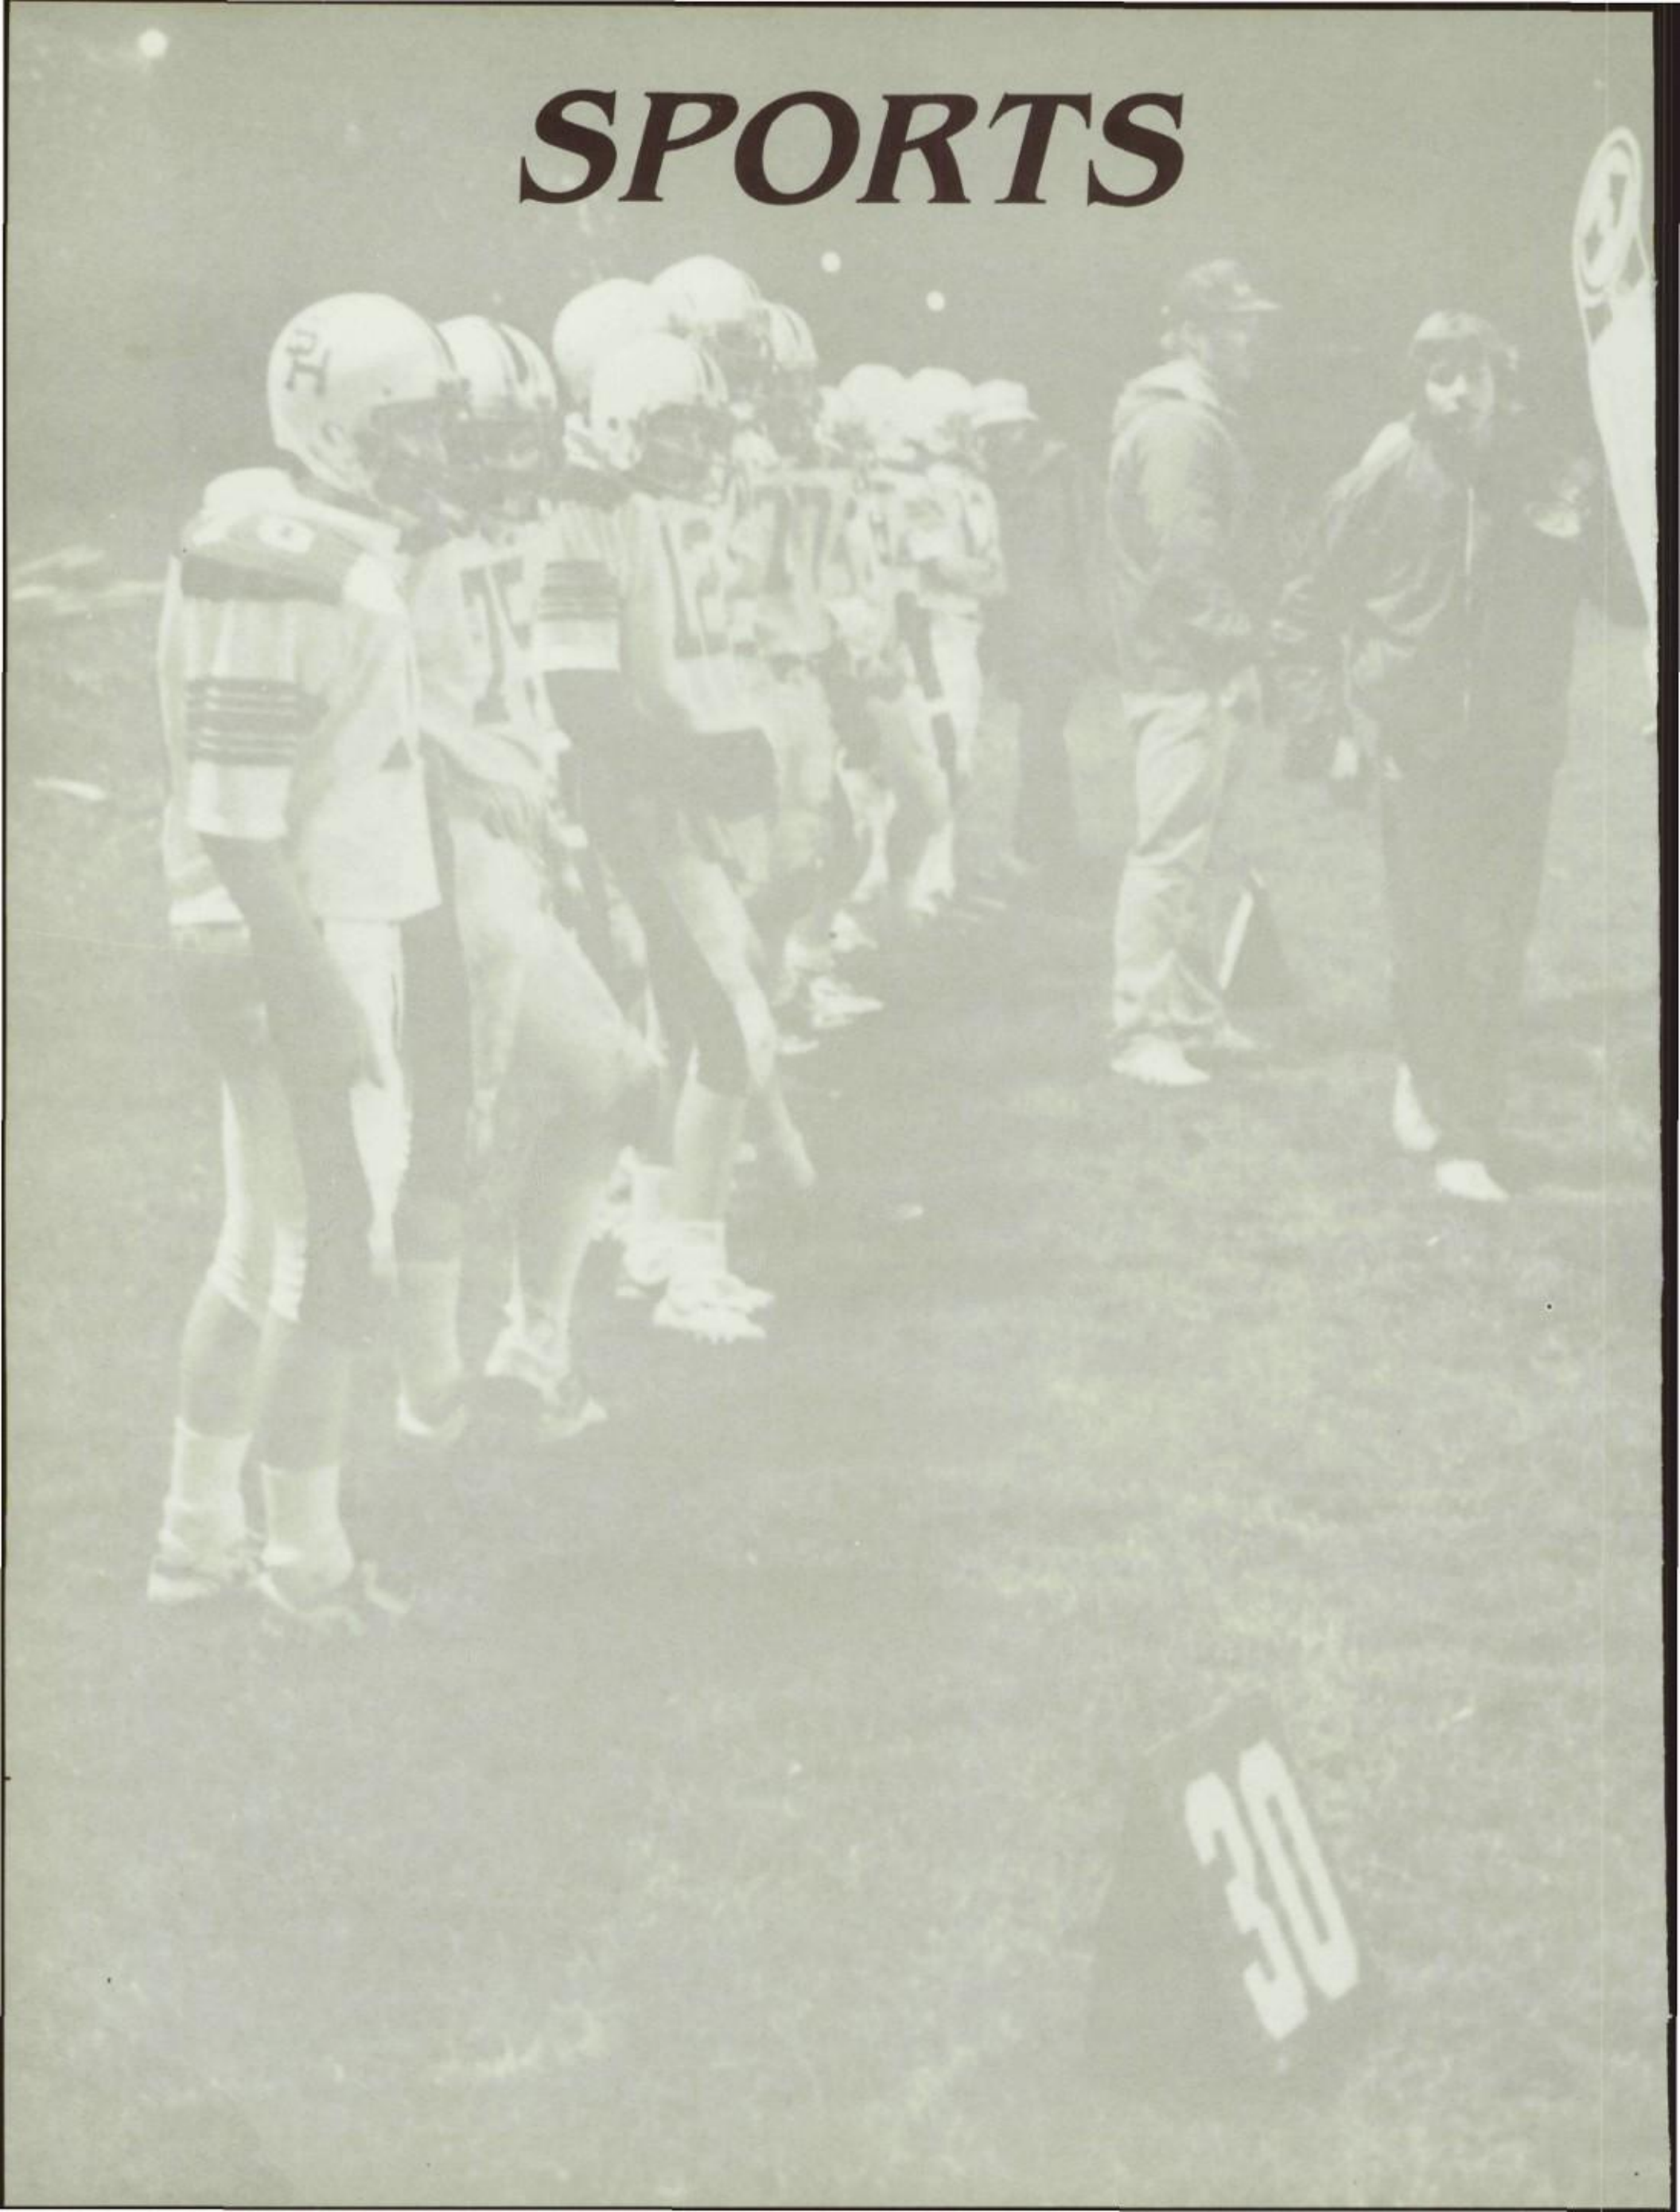
Denice Weigel- "I will still be in Sherwood trying to explain all my unexcused absences. I will also still be in detention, writing letters to the "Rag Crowd" hoping someday I can join them in their far off, exotic places."

Tim Wilson- "I will be living with John Hein in the Carribean partying hard, having $$$$ and women and no responsibilities, except, who's buying the beer?' We're on our way, John. But best of all, I will be rich!!"

Bruce Wyse- "I will be seeing the U.S. from an empty box car."

Rebecca Zurstadt- "I will be completing my studies of life on earth, so I can return to my home planet."

SPORTS



A learning season

Preparation is probably the best word to sum up the JV am's season this year. "My main goal was to improve e JV so that they could help out the varsity team," ted the coach, John Neighbors. When asked how he t the whole season turned out, Matt Langer smiled and plied, "Well I'd like to say exuberant but it was more of a rning experience."

The players got along great with both of their coaches, hn and Mario. Problems did arise between players, however, because of personality conflicts, "We didn't get ong too well and whenever we lost a game we'd chew ch other out," said Thad Metzger.

Although it was an improvement from last year's record, e team only won two games. Part of the problem seemed be a lack of players as Bruce Crowell agreed when he mmented, "We should do better next year if we have ore people out for the team."

Spontaneous pushups bring victories

"No such thing as a free lunch" was commonly heard from the varsity coach Mario Messina on the soccer field. If you ever observed any of the team's games you would've seen his motto in action. Anytime, including practices and matches, a player made a negative comment or kicked the ball without thinking, Mario made them immediately sweat out fifteen pushups. "I did nearly 120 pushups one practice!" sighed Josh Scott.

Tim Wilson, senior, achieved the all-league first team. He felt that Mario's discipline helped the team out and said, "He didn't let us get away with murder but instead pushed us to our capacity."

One special event that occurred this season was the achievement of going to district playoffs. Unfortunately the team lost b the coaches have high hopes for next year. "The team rea could've performed better but they were too nervous and felt li they were in a do or die situation," Coach Mario commented he looked back on the district playoffs.

Apparently, Mario did more than coach. A few of the ext things he did, using his own money and time, were painting t goal posts and taking the team out to pizza. The players enjoy his coaching and his sense of humor. Kelly White, goalie, rep sented the team's feelings well when he said, "If we don't ha Mario next year we'll fall apart!"

Dedication shown

Dedication was important and shown this year as the Sherwood High Varsity Cross Country team sent seniors Brad Brunhaver, Lara White, and sophomore Kim White to the State Cross Country meet, while senior Eric Johnson received Honorable Mention. Dedication was very important and it paid off for Brad, Lara, Eric, and Kim.

"This is a senior dominated team which has show much dedication and improvement towards their district goals," commented Coach John Luccio.

The boys lost their first league meet to LaSalle by one point. Their first league win came when they out ran The Dalles Indians 21-34.

"I like to run; it makes me feel good and I like to be outside," commented Brad.

The girls team was short one girl almost all year with the exception of two meets one being district. With the addition of freshman Joni Rohner, the girls were able to win one meet and place sixth at district.

The Bowmen boys, plagued with injuries throughout the season, placed fourth in the league meet and fell short only six points from going to the state meet.

Over all the runners felt good about the seasons but also felt they came short of what they had worked for.

Varsity has disappointing season

"Last year we were 5-4, this year we were 4-5 and the same place in the league. The team didn't perform as well as last year's and the season was disappointing," commented coach Rob Slauson.

The Varsity Bowmen team was coached by Rob Slauson and assisted by Pat Burke.

"Alcohol directly affected the season. The team lost five players which had a great mental effect on the rest of the team," said assistant coach Pat Burke.

Seniors Bob Horne, Justin Hubbenette, Brett Hayes, Mike Rossa, Todd Weidemann, and junior Paul Shannon made the 2nd team all-conference. Junior Chris Claus and seniors Bill Gustafson, Wes Owens and John Hein received honorable mention.

"This year's season was a lot different due to the fact of the coaching change; we had to start from scratch," said senior Mike Rossa. Last year the team started strong and finished weak. This year the team started out unorganized and finished strong.

"The team could have improved if the overall attitude had been better," commented coach Slauson. Despite a losing season the players will always remember beating Scappoose, who were ranked number one in their leagu

JV has hot year

The JV Bowmen football team has had one of its best seasons ever. This was due to the experience of veteran head coach Jeff Wright. The JV Bowmen finished the season with seven wins, one loss, and one tie.

"The team started out strong and finished even stronger," said freshman Darren Martin. Their biggest win was against Banks, in which they prevailed 42-6.

"The JV Bowmen were one of the most competitive teams in the league this season," commented coach Kurt Victor.

Every team member practiced hard and this was reflected during their games. "In junior high we were very unorganized, this year we pulled together with the help of some sophomore players," said Aaron Contreras.

There is a positive outlook for next years season.

"The eighth-graders look tough, they should be able to have another winning season," said freshman Andrew Watson.

Getting there

"Even though we didn't win, we were competing, and that's the first step to winning," stated Coach Kim Patterson, otherwise known as K.P. by the team.

The 1986 Sherwood J.V. Volleyball team had a fun season and learned to work together as a team.

"At the beginning of the season we didn't always work as a team, but towards the end of the season we learned to be a team," stated senior April Gomez, foreign exchange student from the Phillipines.

"The highlight of the season was during the second half of the season when we played LaSalle because we played a great game," stated assistant Coach Dave Campbell.

The team did win one match against Rainier but it wasn't a league game.

Another high point of the season came when the J.V. team played the varsity squad beating them.

Along with the J.V. team, the Freshman improved their basic fundamentals, desire, aggression, and working together as a team.

K.P. stated, "They were the most enjoyable and hard working teams that I've coached since being at SHS."

Confidence gained

Even though the 1986 Sherwood Varsity Volleyball team didn't win one game, they had a good season.

Coach Cari Campbell commented that the players grew as people and matured as volleyball players.

Junior Allyson Luchs said that it was a rebuilding year because they lost some hard hitters and some setters to graduation.

Coach Campbell thought that the high point of the season was the last third of the season because they started competing and playing good matches.

"By the end of the season we learned to work together as a team on the court," stated sophomore Carmell Wilson.

Coach Campbell felt the teams greatest improvement came when they gained confidence and believed they could compete with other teams. She also thought it was a good season because the coaches worked good together.

When asked about next years team, Campbell stated, "Next years team should be really good because of the returning players. They have real potential."

Nanna takes over

Under new head coach Donna Nanna, the Varsity Girls Soccer team went into the 1986 season with high hopes.

Being Mrs. Nanna's first year of coaching it helped greatly that their was a good deal of experience among the players in past seasons, only a few of the girls had no experience at the varsity level whatsoever. With this going for them the team went right into the season ready to give it their best, which in the end was not enough for the strong competition they were up against.

"Though we didn't have a winning season, we always came off the field knowing that we had given it our best. We never really dwelled on past games (except for wins) which really kept us going," said senior, co-captain Kari Olsen. This showed to be very true because though the girls posted just a 3-11 record, the 3 wins were stretched through the entire season which showed that they were out there to play every game.

Some seasonal bright spots for the team were Lara Bowen's selection to the all-league 2nd team, also Shannon Nanna and Kari Olsen received all-league honorable mentions. Looking to next year is the fact that the team is losing just 4 players at graduation and will be coming back with a lot of experience in the season to come. Along with the players, 1987 should also bring the more experienced Mrs. Nanna back at the helm to lead the girls to what they hope to be a better season as far as winning is concerned, not that 86' was not a fun year, most of the girls agreed it was one of the best as far as fun goes. In '87 they hope to have as much fun while hopefully enjoying a winning season.

JV work together

Fighting the battle of not having enough players, the JV girls soccer team managed to scrape out a winning season.

"It was frustrating not having enough players for most of the games but the girls we had really pulled it together to play some good games. That was really rewarding," said Kayron Gartska, first time assistant coach.

Just as the Varsity, the JV also underwent a complete coaching change during the off-season. Under new coaches Smith and Kayron Gartska the team put together a 5-4 winning record with the help of standouts such as Melissa Rossa, Collette Ulrich, and Ann Lunberg just to name a few.

Since their were so few girls they could all be labeled as standouts because they all had to come together for a combined effort to make the winning season possible and in the years to come I'm sure we will see all of these girls getting a good amount of playing time on the Varsity squad.

JV works hard for improvement

Although the record for the JV Girls Basketball team wasn't as good as they had hoped, the majority of the team felt that they had improved tremendously from the beginning of the season.

Freshman Coral Rose stated, "The team improved a lot from the beginning of the year and there was enough dedication from all the team members to have a successful learning season as a team."

The JV girls were coached by Kim Patterson. K.P. had a reputation for working the players hard and many of the players said that was a very important factor in the outcome of the season. Freshman Shannon Nanna commented, "Even though she worked us hard, we learned a lot."

Learning season

The Varsity girls basketball team had a learning season. The team had young players who lacked experience and had to play against some good teams. Although they had a losing season, Mr. Terrel Smith felt that he had "a great bunch of girls."

This was Mr. Smith's third year coaching Varsity girls basketball. He feels that girls athletics project a great opportunity for competitiveness and improvement.

According to senior Toni Moore, "Everyone learned how to play with each other." She referred to this year as a learning experience, and feels the team will be a lot better next year.

Some of the players felt that they weren't worked hard enough on fundamentals. Junior Jina Dickson said "while we were starting to learn plays, we were still trying to get all of the fundamentals."

JUNIOR MISSY LANGER portrays her skills at throwing a freethrow. This was Missy's second year as a Varsity basketball player at Sherwood High.

Shot needs work

As new basketball players to SHS, the freshman team deserves a hand for winning five games. "They'll be a real tough team once they work on getting their shooting more accurate," stated Coach Jeff Wright.

As agreed upon by most of the players, the high school's program is much better than the Intermediate school's. Some said that the conditioning was better while others said that it was just greater competition.

"The biggest memory of the season was when Mike Jeans shot at the other team's basket!" exclaimed Caleb Zurstadt.

JV team enjoys successful year

The JV Boys Basketball team, coached by Pat Burke, had a winning season. Burke felt that the season overall "was a success."

"The team was enthused about playing and they played well as a team," commented Burke. He felt that the teams greatest improvement was their attitude to work hard during practices.

Sophomores Waiken Sullivan and BJ Wahl both agreed that the highlight of the season came when they beat The Dalles, who were, in their opinion, the best in the league.

The team had a fun season, and loved having Pat as a coach. Kriss Schneider along with many othe members of the team enjoyed hearing "Pat's pregame jokes."

Team works hard

The Varsity Boys Basketball team consisted of twelve players: Three seniors, six juniors and three sophomores. The team was coached by Mr. Ryan Bryson. This was Mr. Bryson's first year as a Varsity basketball coach.

"I felt the coaching was done very well since it was only Mr. Bryson's first year as a coach," commented senior Brett Hayes.

A couple of the players stated that practice was a lot of hard work. The hard work paid off because they had quite a few fast breaks during the games.

Many of the players felt they had a good season. When junior Scott Garstka was asked how he felt he did, he replied, "I think I did pretty good, but most of the teams in the league were ranked."

A main problem this year was the lack of interest in the fans. Most of the players felt they could have played a little better if the fans were there to support them. Sophomore Brian Burke stated, "The kids lost most of their spirit because we kept losing."

2 place in finals

Wrestling was well represented at SHS in 86-87 with 22 wrestlers out for the sport.

The wrestlers competed at several meets and at District, with two wrestlers going on to the state meet at Springfield High School. Senior Bob Horne won two of four matches while junior Brannigan Heenan was defeated in his first match. Brannigan remarked, "I'll take this year as a learning experience and hopefully place next year."

The SHS wrestlers were coached by Mr. Doug Smith and assisted by Mr. Alan Reed. The wrestlers felt that the coaches were very supportive and the team enjoyed working with them. In regards to the coaching senior Jim Rudig commented, "It was excellent!"

Slauson admired as coach

Improvement has been shown this season. Sophomore Ronnie Stark proudly remarked, "Under positive leadership and self-devotion, I have immensely upgraded my performance."

When the players were asked how they felt about the coaching it was a mutual decision that he was a very demanding coach who had high expectations and tried to make you perform to your ability. Sophomore Jeff Winkler stated, "The coaching was done extremely well under the circumstances of losing quite a few of our players."

Most players felt that they could only rely on a few of the teammates to actually put forth their best effort. Junior Aaron Howard said, "We played more for ourselves, not for the team."

Track starts off with a bang

The boys' track season started off just as many of its events did, with a bang! The Bowmen took a strong lead early in the season and ran away with a 5-1 league record that was 7-2 over-all. They "felt the heat" several times throughout the season, however, as their rival teams attempted to steal victory by taking the lead before the final event. But the Bowmen were anchored by a strong 1600 meter relay team that ensured a win each time.

The girls, on the other hand, had a lot of talent but lacked the number of participants to fill the events. "If we would have had more girls out," commented junior Lara Bowen, "we would have won a lot more than we did." Nonetheless, they still competed strong as a team and proved to have some good competitors as they sent their own 1600 meter relay team to the state finals. The team of freshmen Michelle Brown and Colette Ulrich, sophomore Kim White and senior Lara White qualified for state competition by placing second at the district championships.

"I was extremely pleased with the season," stated coach Terrel Smith. "We had a great group of athletes at the freshman and sophomore level which created a lot of excitement that will carry over for future success.

Full steam ahead

With a new coach and a lot of inexperienced players, the Varsity Softball team dove into the season full steam ahead.

After smoothing out the rough spots after an unexpected loss of players due to alcohol, the team picked themselves up and kept on working for improvement. "It was hard," said junior Allyson Luchs, "because we had to start again from scratch." But the team seemed to improve and towards the last half of the season coach Pat Burke said "I have heard several comments on how they have improved since the beginning of the season."

The team was coached by Pat Burke and assisted by Judy Dingman. According to Allyson, "The coaching was really good because Pat took time to teach us all of the fundamentals, which we needed."

Hopes are high for next year as many of the players will be returning. "We really need more people to go out for the sport," said Allyson. "It's really a lot of fun!"

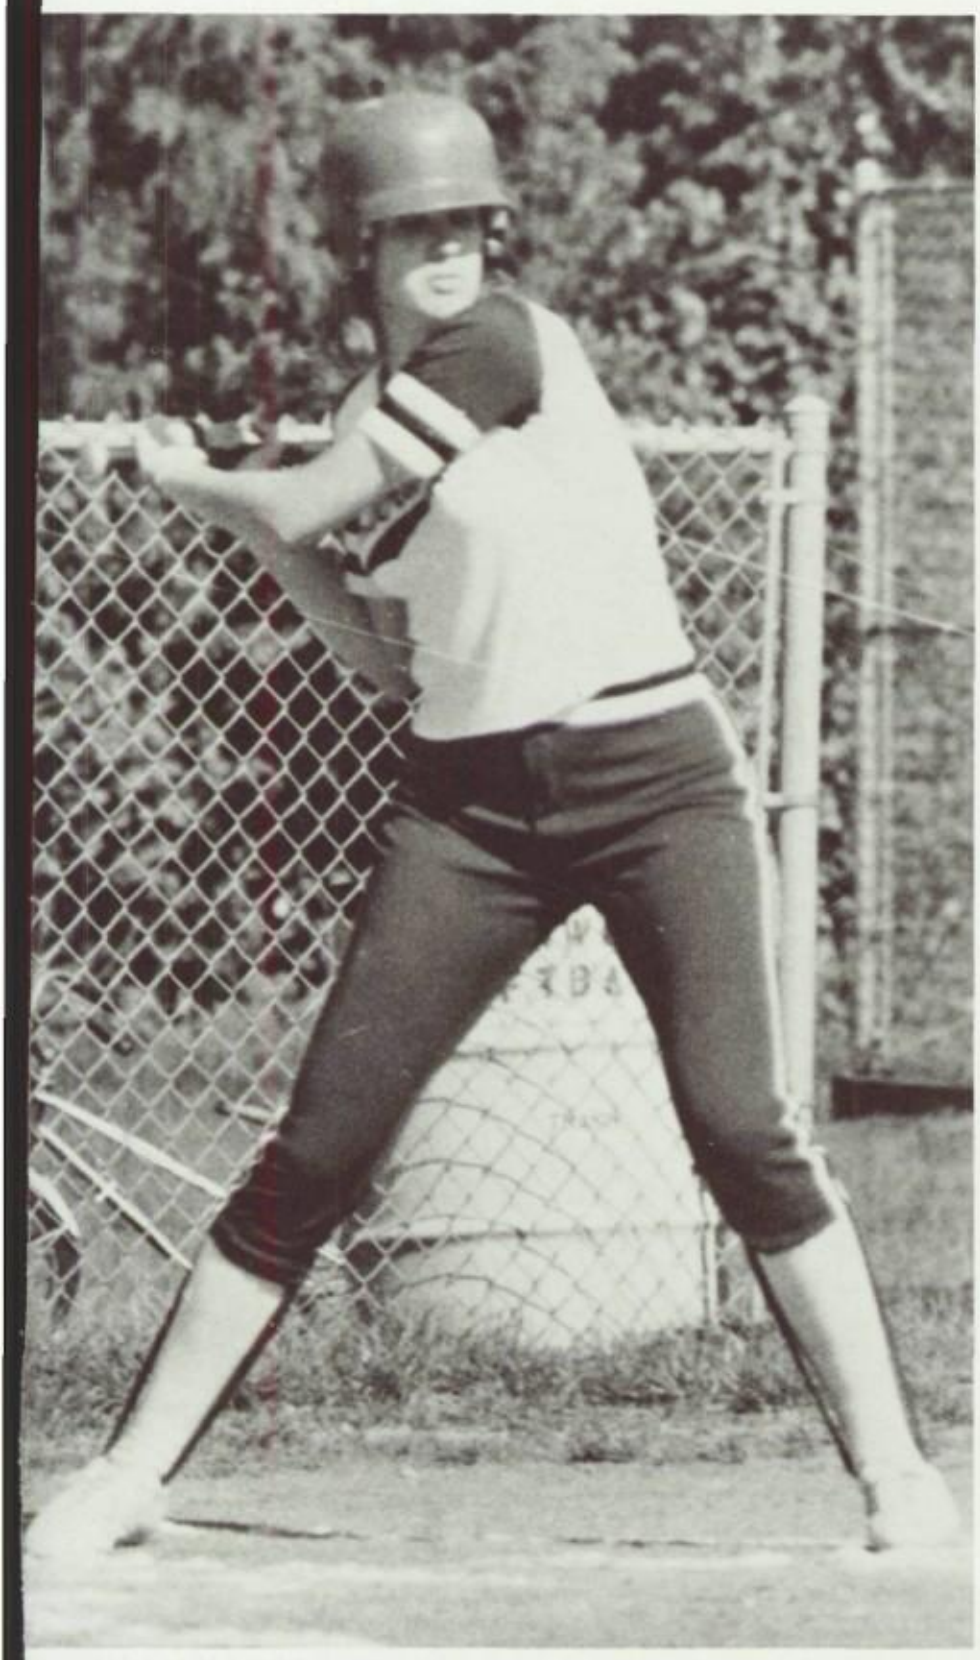
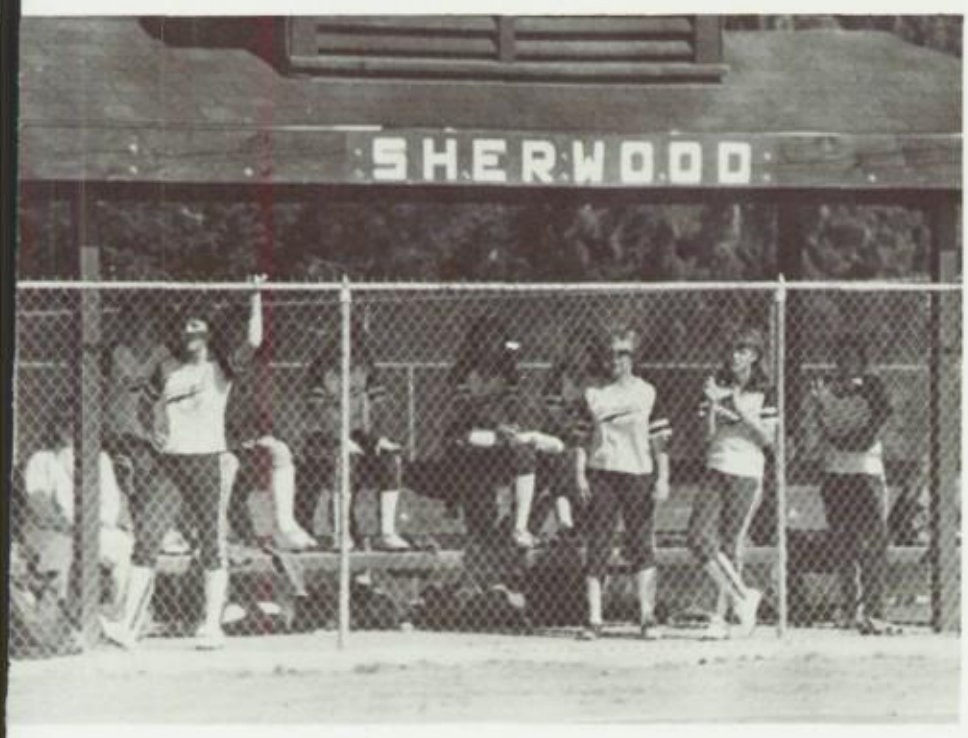
ley, Diana Beachell, Allyso
Luchs, Andrea Veale, Lani Parr.





READY TO SMACK THAT BALL is junior Allyson Luchs at one of the softball games.

ALL DECKED OUT in her catchers gear is sophomore Tiffany Williams. Tiffany made softball First-team this year.

KEEPING COOL under the shade of their dugout are the Varsity Softball girls while junior Liz Hove waits impatiently for the game to start.

WINDING UP FOR a good, fast pitch is sophomore Meredith Roybal. Meredith played as pitcher for most of the season.

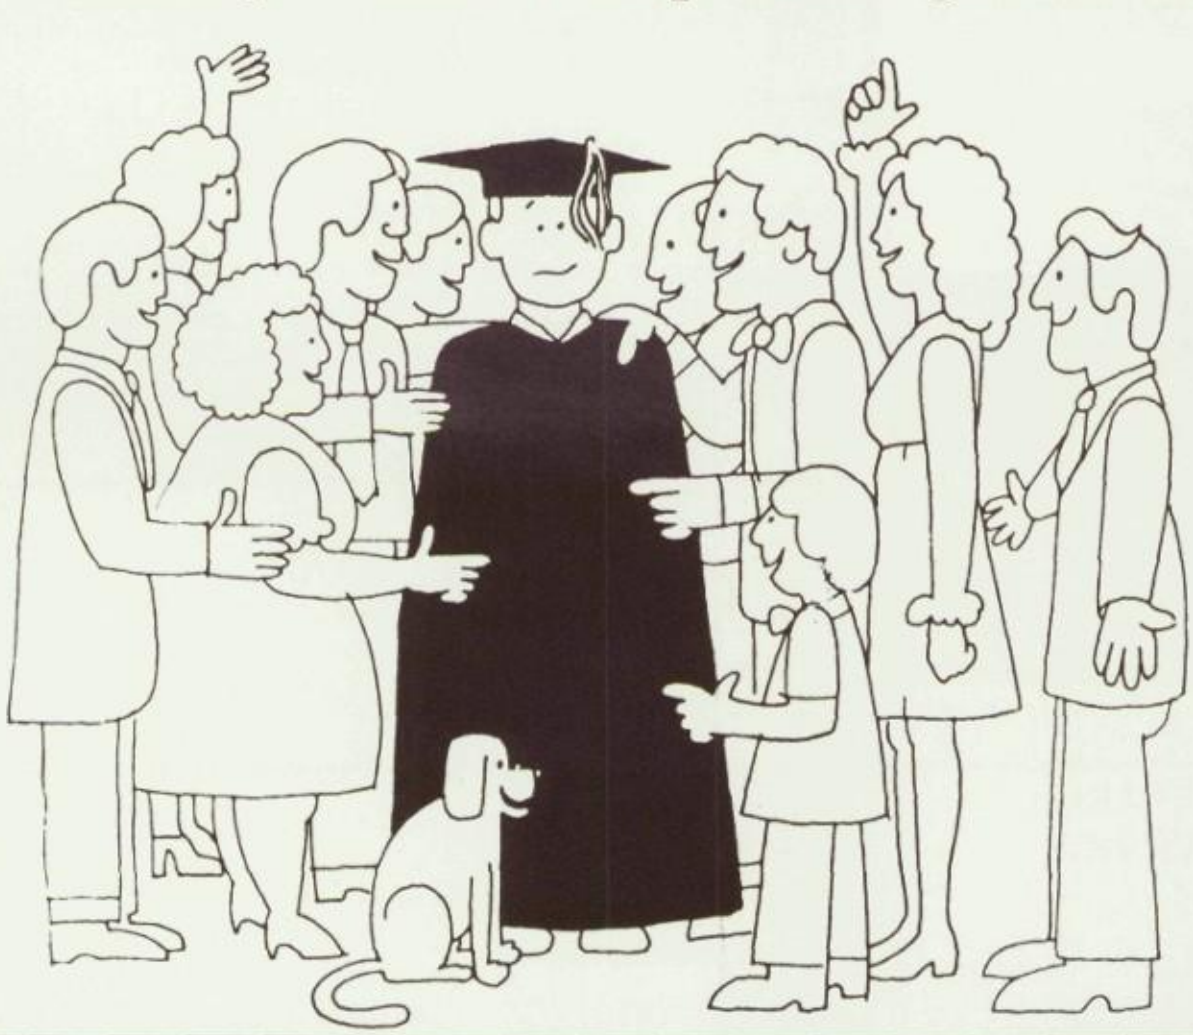
REDBOOK

Funny what a cap and gown does to people.



You can almost hear them, can't you?

Do this. That. You ought.

Parents, teachers, recruiters, counselors, aunts, uncles, second cousins. Even irrepressible kid brothers.

Everybody has the answer for you. And some of them, no doubt, are pretty good. The only problem is the people who have the answer don't have to live with it. You do. The decisions you have to make determine your future. Not theirs.

We, at U.S. Bank, don't have any pat answers for you. But if you could stand just one more piece of advice, we think Shakespeare said it as well as it's ever been said: "To think own self be true."

Take some time out. Look hard at yourself. Find out where your abilities lie, and what you enjoy doing.

Then, if you find those things, you'll be ready for a decision.

One that you can live with for a lifetime.

Put U.S. to work for you.

Only one class ring can really fit you. And (your store name) has it.

Your class ring should be as special as you are. And it can be with Balfour, because you design it – to create a class ring that is yours alone. Your class ring from Balfour. No other can express who you are so exactly. Or capture your memories so clearly.

"THE ACTIVITIES OF THIS YEAR, ESPECIALLY UNITED NATIONS HAS HELPED MAKE THIS YEAR MY BEST EVER!"
Jeri Peck

Spirit and unity of the 86-87 school year began to die off after the seniors left and as finals approached.

Even though the summer weather in May made it hard to stay enthusiastic towards school, the great times of the year were still vivid in people's minds.

"The year was great because I was involved in soccer and track with a lot of my friends!" exclaimed sophomore David Bourne.

"It's been an exciting year, especially with Mrs. Spencer ("Teach")." said junior Cathy Stalp.

Although the "heat" of the year drifted off towards the end it will be back again next year, better than before. For those who are leaving us and who won't be coming back to SHS, we hope that this year book will be valuable to you in bringing back to life all of those "hot" memories of the 1986-87 school year.

Memories are renewed and emotions are stirred about as we approach the final page of the 1987 Quiver. There are many individuals I would like to thank, for without their help, this yearbook would have been impossible.

There are many parents, businesses, and individuals throughout Sherwood and its neighboring cities that have been a big part of funding this annual. This year, our staff was able to exceed our fundraising goal, and made more money than any previous year.

Pictures are a main factor of any yearbook, so a big thanks goes to Mark Comella. He provided pictures of Homecoming, Prom, Graduation, and all of the cheerleading and team pictures. Jennifer Burns also deserves a big thanks. She was willing to help us out when in need, and due to her dependability, she helped us make this book complete. Both Mark Comella and Jennifer Burns have been a big part of helping our staff fill the pages of this book with the memories of SHS, never to be forgotten.

I thank Mrs. McCusker very much for her patience and guidance. This book has been completed largely due to her. She has helped our staff overcome difficulties as they approached, and helped meet every deadline for the 9th consecutive year. I also would like to thank Josten's American Yearbook, our printer and Brian Asher, our Josten's representative. They both have helped us produce another book, and Brian has been a big help to us and when in despair, was always ready to help.

Last, I would like to thank the 1987 Quiver staff. We have worked very hard in completing this book. A special thanks goes to those who worked extra hard and spent nights after school to help meet deadlines. We hope that this book is enjoyable to you and is beneficial in the years to come.

THANK YOU!
